U.S. Navy Jets Battle Red MIGs In Massive Raid

One of the Soviet-built jet fighers possibly was shot down. It was seen disappearing into clouds in flames.

The nationality of the MIGs was not determined, but they were presumed to be North Vietnamese. There was no announcement of any American losses in the air battle.

In Saigon, American authorities announced that two more battalions of U.S. Marines and a squadron of Marine jet fighters will land shortly in Viet Nam, further reinforcing security at Da Nang and at the city of Hue.

A five-man Vietnamese military tribunal sentenced to death the driver of the getaway motorbike in the U.S. Embassy bombing of March 30 despite the Viet Cong's threat to execute a captive U.S. aid mission official, Gustav C. Hertz of Leesburg, Va., in reprisal.

The condemned terrorist is Nguyen Van Hai, 27. There is no appeal from the tribunal's sentence, but Chief of State Phan Kac Suu could commute it.

About 220 U.S. Air Force and Navy planes raided North Vietnamese bridges in this 20th such operation against military targets of the Hanoi regime since Feb. 7. The greatest number previously involved on a single day was about 160 on March 2.

U.S. authorities announced ground fire felled one plane, a Navy A4D Skyhawk, but said the pilot was rescued. Radio Peking declared eight of the raiders were shot down.

With the report on the Skyhawk, American announcements show a loss of 27 planes — U.S. and South Vietnamese — during the 20 strikes north of the border. The Communists now claim their gunners have downed 165.

The encounter between the MIGs and the American planes was the third in a week.

Last Saturday three MIGs approached a formation of U.S. planes over North Viet Nam but did not tangle with them.

On Sunday, MIGs attacked a formation of U.S. planes and shot down two F105s.

The Navy planes involved in the battle today were F4C Phantom jets, among the fastest fighters in use today. The Phantoms were assigned to a special "anti-MIG patrol."

About 140 U.S. Navy planes attacked Tam Da bridge, 120 miles south of Hanoi, while 80 Air Force jets attacked two other bridges in raids today.

One Navy A4 jet was shot down by groundfire, but the pilot was rescued.

In Saigon, American authorities announced that two more battalions of U.S. Marines and a squadron of Marine jet fighters will land shortly in Viet Nam.

Castro's Regime Holds 47 Pastors

HAVANA (AP) — The Castro government is holding 47 Baptist preachers — including two Americans — and 13 laymen as spies for the United States.

A spokesman for the Western Cuba Baptist Convention said two-thirds of the Baptist ministers in western Cuba are in jail.

Swiss Ambassador Emil Stadelhofer, who handles U.S. interests in Cuba, has not been permitted to see the arrested men.

The Americans are the Rev. Herbert Caudill, 61, head of the convention and a missionary here the past 35 years; and his son-in-law, the Rev. James David Fite, 31, of Waynesboro, Ga.

Their wives and relatives of the other men were notified they would be able to visit the prisoners next Tuesday.

Mrs. Caudill refused Thursday night to comment on her husband's arrest except to remark that they had "not faced any trouble before in Cuba and were dedicated to teaching and preaching."

Cuban authorities picked up seven ministers in outlying provinces some days ago. Thursday at dawn, raiding parties searched homes and churches in the Havana area, arresting 40 preachers and the 13 laymen.

Caudill was arrested at the Baptist Seminary in Havana, where he lived and taught.

Cuba's government radio charged that Caudill and the other churchmen, "working under the cloak of religion, organized a counterrevolutionary group for missions of espionage and subversion."

Caudill, a native of Clinchport, Va., returned to the United States last year for surgery on a detached retina. Dr. Arthur B. Rutledge, executive secretary of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, said in Atlanta, Ga., Thursday that during the months Caudill was home, he would not even discuss Cuban political matters for fear he would jeopardize his return to Cuba.

7 Cases Held Secret

15 Will Face 23 Charges In Grand Jury Indictment

The April Grand Jury returned 23 indictments against 15 persons when it wound up its interrupted investigation and reported today to Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard at Lisbon.

Arraignment of the defendants is scheduled Monday, April 19. Seven of the indictments are secret until the defendants have been served by the sheriff's department.

The panel examined 42 witnesses. One complaint was ignored on grounds of insufficient evidence. Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis and Asst. Prosecutor James Primm were in charge of the investigation. Russell Smith of Leetonia was foreman of the panel of seven men and eight women.

The defendants and the charges they face:

Elsie P. Moore of Pennsylvania Ave. and Clifford Eugene McDole, 1702 Alpha St., both East Liverpool, robbery of James E. Mellott Jan. 10 in East Liverpool.

James L. Sturgill, 18, of 481 John St., East Liverpool, and David O. Crockett, 20, of Ghent, two counts of auto theft and operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent in the theft of an auto owned by Rebecca Turk Jan. 27 in East Liverpool.

$6 Billion Historic Measure

Medicare-Social Security Bill Approved By House, 313-115

Senate Due Passage Of School Bill

Ticklish Church, State Issue Must Be Wrestled First

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders expect to pass President Johnson's school aid bill today and send it to him to sign into law. But first they will have to wrestle with the ticklish church-state issue.

As the Senate prepared to meet two hours early for a third day of debate on the $1.3-billion measure, an early vote was in prospect on an amendment sponsored by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C.

The onetime judge wants to tack onto the bill an amendment to specifically provide for judicial review of the aid that will indirectly go to church schools.

The House has already passed the bill — March 26 by a vote of 263 to 153 — and the Ervin amendment appeared to be the last major obstacle to enactment. For if no substantial changes are made there will be no need for a conference of House and Senate to resolve differences and the bill can be on President Johnson's desk by dusk.

Ervin argued in presenting his amendment Thursday night that it is practically impossible for an ordinary taxpayer to challenge aid to parochial schools. The courts, he said, have held that an individual has too minimal an interest to sustain a suit.

But Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., former dean of the Oregon University Law School, appealed for defeat of the Ervin amendment.

Concern Sets New Start On St. Clair Ave.

Herman Brothers Construction Co. of Youngstown expects to begin moving in equipment next week to resume work on the $789,000 St. Clair Ave. project interrupted by weather late last fall, although the job will not be in full swing again until the week of April 19, the State Highway Department said today.

The state and the general contractor still are discussing the status of traffic when the job resumes. The contract provides that traffic will be maintained during construction, but it may be necessary to limit movement to one lane in some areas when the job resumes, the Highway Department said.

Central States Construction Co. of Canal Fulton is the subcontractor for the paving work. It will begin setting up its concrete batch plant and other equipment within the next few weeks, but no actual paving is expected immediately.

The Herman concern will begin work on the south end of the project near Princeton Ave., with grading and installation of the slag sub-base for the pavement. The work will begin on the east side of the job. Traffic, meanwhile, will use the western section of the right-of-way. Then the sub-base will be installed on the west side and traffic will be shifted to the east side.

The project calls for three lanes of reinforced concrete pavement and a complete storm drainage system. The Highway Department awarded the contract to Herman Brothers June 12, 1964, on its bid of $789,000—which was $24,000 over the official estimate of $765,600.

The overall cost is estimated at $848,000 including rights-of-way, engineering and other details.

$300,000 Damage Reported In Lucasville

Tornadoes Lash 3 Ohio Counties; Newsboy, 12, Killed By Lightning

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes bounced around in at least three Southern Ohio counties Thursday night during a severe electrical storm that brought with it hailstones the size of golf balls and caused the death of a 12-year-old boy by lightning.

Hardest hit was the small community of Lucasville, north of Portsmouth in Scioto County, where two businesses were completely destroyed by a tornado, a third was badly damaged, 25 homes either had their roofs torn off or were otherwise damaged, telephone and electric service was knocked out for several hours and at least six persons were injured, none seriously.

A preliminary estimate set damage in the community at $300,000.

A twister touched down in two spots in Lucasville, and in Pike County, about 30 miles to the north, two areas received widespread damage from a similar, possibly the same storm.

Far to the west, in Butler County, residents of Poasttown reported seeing a funnel-shaped cloud in the sky. It apparently did not touch ground.

Butler County and the Cincinnati area were hit hardest by the thunder and hail storm, and it was at Middletown in Butler County that the storm's only fatality was recorded.

Senate's OK Expected In Eight Weeks

Finance Committee Hearings To Begin After Easter Recess

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's $6-billion health care-Social Security bill has swept through the House by a margin of almost 3 to 1 and Senate approval is expected within eight weeks.

The House passed the historic measure—the greatest revision and expansion of the Social Security system in its three decades of existence —by a 313-115 vote Thursday night after rejecting a Republican substitute by a much closer vote, 236 to 191.

Republicans argued the plan to provide comprehensive health services for older Americans and to boost retirement benefits should be financed primarily by the general Treasury. Democrats contended the bill's way is best —boosting the payroll tax on employers and employes. The House is overwhelmingly Democratic and the Democrats won.

The GOP leadership then freed individual Republicans from the restraint of a party position. So, even though GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan voted against the Democratic administration's bill, it carried by the wide margin of almost 3 to 1.

The two key votes went this way: On substituting the Republican bill, 128 Republicans and 63 Democrats were on the losing side, bowing to 226 Democrats and 10 Republicans.

On final passage of the administration bill, 248 Democrats and 65 Republicans triumphed over 42 Democrats and 73 Republicans.

Johnson said the House action "demonstrates once again the vitality of our democratic system in responding to the needs and will of the people."

The first step on the Senate side is a round of hearings before the Finance Committee. The chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said it will not be able to take up the measure until after the Easter recess, scheduled for April 15-21.

The major elements of the 297-page bill include:

A hospital plan for all those 65 and older, with the patient paying the first $40.

An optional insurance plan to cover doctor bills and some other medical expenses. This would cost $3 a month, with the government matching the sum, and cover 80 per cent of expenses after the first $50 in any year.

The existing system of state-federal medical aid for the near-indigent would be enlarged.

A general 7 per cent increase in Social Security old-age

2 Fund Bills Mark Time In Ohio Senate

Fate Of Measures Seen Hinging On Democrats' Moves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' two big appropriations bills are marking time in the evenly divided Ohio Senate, with their fate hinged on future decisions of none-too-happy Democrats.

The first to arrive, several weeks ago, from the GOP-dominated House failed on the Senate floor Thursday but was kept alive under a rule allowing two legislative days for possible reconsideration. The measure, which needs 17 votes to pass, would appropriate $888 million for the Highway and Highway Safety departments for the 1965-67 biennium. The vote was 16-13 with three Democrats abstaining.

Assigned Thursday to the Senate Finance Committee was the House - approved $1.46 billion general appropriations measure. It is not expected to reach the Senate floor for several weeks.

Democrats indicated they could move Monday night for reconsideration of the Highway-Highway Safety measure but would insist that the motion be left pending. Through this maneuver, action could be postponed indefinitely.

This development underscored once again the dilemma facing the stalemated upper chamber in which neither party can get a bill passed without at least one vote from the other side. It also gave weight to predictions that this could be one of the most unproductive legislatures in state history.

Meanwhile, reports on Ku Klu Klan activities in Ohio have had repercussions in the legislature. Two big-city senators secured

Steel Pact Talks Are Deadlocked

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Crucial basic steel contract talks are deadlocked with the industry blaming the impasse on union internal troubles. The United Steelworkers denies this publicly, but privately some of its top men say it is so.

There could be a nationwide steel strike May 1.

I. W. Abel, union secretary-treasurer, reportedly has defeated incumbent President David J. McDonald by several thousand votes in a power struggle rare for a major union.

McDonald, 62, has been president for 12 years. He says he gave up a promising Hollywood career to join the labor movement back in the 1930s. Abel is 56, earthy, forceful, a product of Ohio steel mills and the rough-and-tumble days of early organizing.

The union's international tellers must report a winner by May 1.

Top-level negotiating for the union and the industry has been done for the past several years by a small group of men.

They know each other well. They have the routine down pat. Usually noneconomic matters have been discussed first, then the bigger issues of wages, pensions and other cost items.

But a top union negotiator said that this year Abel and Joseph Molony, who ran for vice president on Abel's slate, insisted the economic matters be presented first.

McDonald said okay and told them to draw up the package. Consequently, all the union's demands were dumped on the bargaining table at one time.

This created the problem, still apparently unsolved, of where to start. One union man who was present said it also almost brought negotiators to blows when the industry ridiculed the demands and called them preposterous.

McDonald's appointment of Abel and Molony to draw up the union demands was taken as a unity move. But McDonald also let it be known that he thought their package was extravagant.

Rhodes Urges All 4 Of Issues Be Passed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Passage of all four issues on the May 4 ballot was urged by Gov. James A. Rhodes Thursday night to "put Ohio in the No. 1 position in education, parks and recreation, highways, aviation and research."

The governor addressed about 300 persons at the City Hall in Lakewood.

"We cannot move into Ohio without your cooperation," he said. "We can accomplish this only by selling, packaging, merchandising and projecting the state of Ohio. . .

"Cleveland should have had a state university 50 years ago," he said.

Auto Injures City Child, 8, On W. 3rd St.

2 Vehicles Owned By Woman Figure In Runaway Crash

An 8-year-old East Liverpool youngster was injured Thursday night when bumped by an auto and knocked 10 feet as he crossed W. 3rd St. about 150 feet east of Jackson St., police reported.

Brady Hanlon, son of Charles Hanlon, 1827 Allison St., was struck about 10 p.m. by a 1964 model sport coupe operated by Joseph W. D'Alessio, 19, of Dairy Ln., officers said. The child was treated at City Hospital for a possible hip injury. Officers said he also suffered the loss of two front teeth.

The motorist told police he was driving west on W. 3rd about 20 miles an hour when the youngster started to cross the street and then turned back. The boy was hit by the left front of the auto and rolled about 10 feet on the pavement, he said.

In a freak mishap Thursday night at 10:53 on Minerva St. at Cadmus St. an auto and a pickup truck both owned by the same woman figured in a "runaway" that damaged a tree and a hedge, officers said.

The unusual incident involved a 1950 sedan and a 1950 pickup truck that police said both are registered in the name of Ann Gordon, 644 Minerva St.

The truck was parked in front of the car when it apparently drifted backward and struck the auto, police said. The car crossed the street backwards and then continued, striking a tree on the lot owned by Loblaw, Inc., which has a market at Minerva St. and Bradshaw Ave.

Meanwhile, the truck coasted backwards and came to a halt

$12,000 Fund Allocated For Work Camp

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners have allotted $12,000 for improving the Kyes Farm property on Route 7, just north of Rogers, for use as a boys' work camp. Power and phone lines are being installed in the home and barn, and Robert Keslar, courthouse maintenance man, is working on improving the structures.

The farm eventually will be used as a work camp for boys in care of the Welfare Department. All work is being done on the recommendation of Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect.

The recommendations were approved at the commissioners meeting Thursday in the Courthouse.

Land easements were approved for Township Rd. 750 and Depot Rd. Ext., in which $300 was paid to Rollin and Bernice Arter and $200 to Harry and Lois Kannal.

Slag grants of $300 each were given to St. Clair, Unity and Fairfield Township trustees.

The salary of Robert Woodburn, County Home employe, was raised from $160 to $180 per month beginning April 15.

Robert Bycroft, welfare director, was awarded $5 travel allowance for a workshop at Canton today.

The commissioners will meet Monday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Elyria's Fire Chief Stepping Down At 87

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — At the age of 87 and after nearly half a century as fire chief of Elyria, Wallace N. Bates is stepping down.

Bates, the only full-time fire chief this city ever hired, said today he will retire May 1.

"It's time," said Bates. "I can't last another 100 years."

Repairs Set On Hancock Sheriff Home

Hancock County commissioners Thursday decided to seek bids for repairing the sheriff's residence adjacent to the Courthouse. It will be used by one of Sheriff Joe Rodak's deputies, Roy Fouty, and his family.

The brick house, which is below the jail, was formerly occupied by Sheriff Rodak's predescessor, Joe Manypenny, and his family, during Manypenny's four-year term.

Rodak had said earlier this year that he would not use the dwelling unless a complete remodeling was undertaken, at an estimated cost of $8,000.

Commissioners said yesterday they would accept bids for wallpapering, painting, rug cleaning and insect extermination.

In other business, commissioners refused to pay a $200 bill submitted to them by the sheriff from William Dumbaugh, Weirton accountant, for completing an audit of the sheriff's office.

Commissioner Jack Evans said he is maintaining the stand which he had taken last January when Rodak insisted that the office be audited to protect him from any shorages from the preceding administration.

Evans explained that the county pays the state tax commissioner to conduct periodic audits and he feels an outside audit would only be a duplication of expenses, without relieving the county of any responsibility.

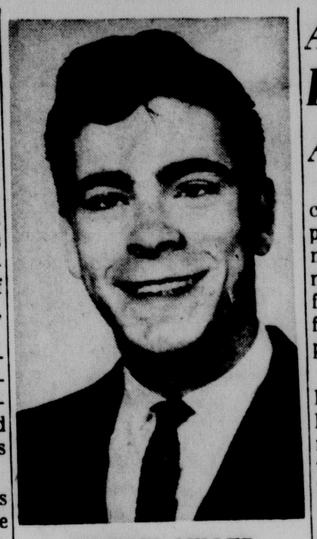
Commissioner William Graham asked for an opinion from Floyd Tarr, prosecuting attorney, on whether to pay the bill. Tarr said he would present his opinion to the commissioners at the next special meeting Tuesday at 10 a. m.

The commissioners agreed to close the Courthouse offices at noon on Good Friday. However, the offices will be open on Saturday from 9 a. m. to noon as usual.

Evans was appointed as commissioners' representative to the Hancock County 4-H Foundation for the term expiring next Dec. 31 of this year.

Evans presided in the absence of James Finley, president, who is recuperating from a heart ailment at Weirton General Hospital. It was announced that Finley called the Courthouse to inform commissioners that his condition is improving and that he may be released this weekend.

The word "salary" is an outgrowth of the fact that ancient man placed great value on salt. The word "salary" is derived from salt, and in its original sense indicated that money was given to buy salt.



MICHAEL MILLER
Cited For Saving Swimmer.

Citation Given City Boy Scout In River Rescue

Michael O. Miller, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn T. Miller, 314 Ogden St., and an Eagle Scout, has received a citation from the National Boy Scout Court of Honor among 75 honored for saving a life or for some other meritorious action.

The certificate presented to young Miller at a service Sunday at the Calvary Methodist executive head of the Columbiana County Boy Scout Council, reads:

"On July 24, 1964, Eagle Scout Michael O. Miller and two friends were swimming in the Tuscarawas River near Newcomerstown when one of his companions, John Gump, was caught in the current and carried into a whirlpool. Michael went to his aid and, after a considerable struggle and with the help of another companion, succeeded in getting John to safety."

The scout council said this demonstrates the increasing effectiveness of the safety and life-saving training of Boy Scouts.

Scouting aims to reinforce the boy's natural courage with skill and knowledge in handling himself in emergencies requiring quick, sure decisions.

Appeal Slated In Wellsville Amato Case

Atty. William Bush, Wellsville city solicitor, filed notice of appeal Thursday against the Common Pleas Court ruling that denied a motion for a new trial for the Wellsville administration fighting Charles Amato's appointment to the police force.

On behalf of Mayor William Daugherty and Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare, Bush notified court at Lisbon he intends to carry the case to the 7th District Court of Appeals.

Joel H. Sharp, who denied the new trial move March 15, refused the administration's contention there were errors in the first hearing. The solicitor's appeal is being filed on a question of law.

Common Pleas Court ruled in January that Amato had the status of a regular patrolman. The officer had filed suit in the Lisbon court for a declaratory judgment after the mayor failed to appoint him to fill a vacancy on the force. Amato is now serving as a regular officer.

Wellsville City Council Feb. 2 adopted a resolution instructing the solicitor not to appeal but Bush contended this was not binding on him, and Council on March 16 ordered legislation naming Atty. Thomas Cole as its special counsel, to serve without pay. Then, the Civil Service Commission announced through a letter made public March 25 it had requested Bush to "exclude it from any further involvement" in the Amato case. The commission on at least two occasions conducted examinations and certified applicants for the police vacancy.

$12,000 Fund Allocated For Work Camp

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners have allotted $12,000 for improving the Kyes Farm property on Route 7, just north of Rogers, for use as a boys' work camp. Power and phone lines are being installed in the home and barn, and Robert Keslar, courthouse maintenance man, is working on improving the structures.

The farm eventually will be used as a work camp for boys in care of the Welfare Department. All work is being done on the recommendation of Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect.

The recommendations were approved at the commissioners meeting Thursday in the Courthouse.

Land easements were approved for Township Rd. 750 and Depot Rd. Ext., in which $300 was paid to Rollin and Bernice Arter and $200 to Harry and Lois Kannal.

Slag grants of $300 each were given to St. Clair, Unity and Fairfield Township trustees.

The salary of Robert Woodburn, County Home employe, was raised from $160 to $180 per month beginning April 15.

Robert Bycroft, welfare director, was awarded $5 travel allowance for a workshop at Canton today.

The commissioners will meet Monday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Elyria's Fire Chief Stepping Down At 87

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — At the age of 87 and after nearly half a century as fire chief of Elyria, Wallace N. Bates is stepping down.

Bates, the only full-time fire chief this city ever hired, said today he will retire May 1.

"It's time," said Bates. "I can't last another 100 years."

Repairs Set On Hancock Sheriff Home

Hancock County commissioners Thursday decided to seek bids for repairing the sheriff's residence adjacent to the Courthouse. It will be used by one of Sheriff Joe Rodak's deputies, Roy Fouty, and his family.

The brick house, which is below the jail, was formerly occupied by Sheriff Rodak's predecessor, Joe Manypenny, and his family, during Manypenny's four-year term.

Rodak had said earlier this year that he would not use the dwelling unless a complete remodeling was undertaken, at an estimated cost of $8,000.

Commissioners said yesterday they would accept bids for wallpapering, painting, rug cleaning and insect extermination.

In other business, commissioners refused to pay a $200 bill submitted to them by the sheriff from William Dumbaugh, Weirton accountant, for completing an audit of the sheriff's office.

Commissioner Jack Evans said he is maintaining the stand which he had taken last January when Rodak insisted that the office be audited to protect him from any shorages from the preceding administration.

Evans explained that the county pays the state tax commissioner to conduct periodic audits and he feels an outside audit would only be a duplication of expenses, without relieving the county of any responsibility.

Commissioner William Graham asked for an opinion from Floyd Tarr, prosecuting attorney, on whether to pay the bill. Tarr said he would present his opinion to the commissioners at the next special meeting Tuesday at 10 a.m.

The commissioners agreed to close the Courthouse offices at noon on Good Friday. However, the offices will be open on Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon as usual.

Evans was appointed as commissioners' representative to the Hancock County 4-H Foundation for the term expiring next Dec. 31 of this year.

Evans presided in the absence of James Finley, president, who is recuperating from a heart ailment at Weirton General Hospital. It was announced that Finley called the Courthouse to inform commissioners that his condition is improving and that he may be released this weekend.

The word "salary" is an outgrowth of the fact that ancient man placed great value on salt. The word "salary" is derived from salt, and in its original sense indicated that money was given to buy salt.

MICHAEL MILLER
Cited For Saving Swimmer.

Citation Given City Boy Scout In River Rescue

Michael O. Miller, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn T. Miller, 314 Ogden St., and an Eagle Scout, has received a citation from the National Boy Scout Court of Honor among 75 honored for saving a life or for some other meritorious action.

The certificate presented to young Miller at a service Sunday at the Calvary Methodist executive head of the Columbiana County Boy Scout Council, reads:

"On July 24, 1964, Eagle Scout Michael O. Miller and two friends were swimming in the Tuscarawas River near Newcomerstown when one of his companions, John Gump, was caught in the current and carried into a whirlpool. Michael went to his aid and, after a considerable struggle and with the help of another companion, succeeded in getting John to safety."

The scout council said this demonstrates the increasing effectiveness of the safety and life-saving training of Boy Scouts.

Scouting aims to reinforce the boy's natural courage with skill and knowledge in handling himself in emergencies requiring quick, sure decisions.

Appeal Slated In Wellsville Amato Case

Atty. William Bush, Wellsville city solicitor, filed notice of appeal Thursday against the Common Pleas Court ruling that denied a motion for a new trial for the Wellsville administration fighting Charles Amato's appointment to the police force.

On behalf of Mayor William Daugherty and Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare, Bush notified court at Lisbon he intends to carry the case to the 7th District Court of Appeals.

Joel H. Sharp, who denied the new trial move March 15, refused the administration's contention there were errors in the first hearing. The solicitor's appeal is being filed on a question of law.

Common Pleas Court ruled in January that Amato had the status of a regular patrolman. The officer had filed suit in the Lisbon court for a declaratory judgment after the mayor failed to appoint him to fill a vacancy on the force. Amato is now serving as a regular officer.

Wellsville City Council Feb. 2 adopted a resolution instructing the solicitor not to appeal but Bush contended this was not binding on him, and Council on March 16 ordered legislation naming Atty. Thomas Cole as its special counsel, to serve without pay. Then, the Civil Service Commission announced through a letter made public March 25 it had requested Bush to "exclude it from any further involvement" in the Amato case. The commission on at least two occasions conducted examinations and certified applicants for the police vacancy.

A Little Less Than Idealistic

It never can be known what impact President Johnson's idealistic proposal for lifting living standards in Southeast Asia might have if given a chance.

It won't have a chance.

Even if the men in Peking and Hanoi decided to go along with it, in hope of earning more time to carry out their own program, the President's proposal for international cooperation would bring little response from Asiatics in general.

President Johnson is aware of the power of Asiatic nationalism. President Kennedy, President Eisenhower and President Truman all were aware of it. President Roosevelt learned about it in the near-disaster of Japan's explosive accession of power.

Yet, most Westerners babble about the white man's burden, as if the West was still fighting Opium Wars over its disputed right to sell dope to Chinese masses.

THE OCCIDENTAL concept of keeping Asiatic territory open to all comers under an Open Door policy still dominates European and American thought.

To this day, only a handful of candid commentators have dared to tell Americans that in Viet Nam they are regarded as replacements for the French colonials routed in 1954 at Dienbienphu.

France, too, was opposing what it believed to be a Communist threat — and what was, undoubtedly a Communist-inspired and Communist-supported action. But there was vastly more to it than Communism.

Whether it was a beleaguered French army fighting the Vietminh, or a beleaguered South Vietnamese army fighting the Viet Cong, with U.S. support and assistance, the issue was not the ideology of Communism so much as the continued presence of Western influence in Southeast Asia.

It is hard to believe leaders in their right minds would turn down a proposal as attractive as President Johnson's blueprint for international cooperation to bring peace to Southeast Asia through prosperity.

But there is a world of difference between the rationale of an Asiatic in Hanoi and a statesman in Washington, Mr. Johnson's far-seeing and philanthropic proposal has overtones of Henry A. Wallace's once-famous proposal for providing daily milk rations to Hottentots.

THE HOTTENTOTS, of course, never heard of it. If they had heard of it, they wouldn't have understood it. They would not drink milk if they had it.

Does it mean, then, that the alternative to accepting President Johnson's open-handed and broadly conceived program for aid and succor to Southeast Asia is killing and more killing and more killing in Southeast Asia?

It would be nice if the killing could be stopped by adoption of the program.

But in the Orient, where patience is a carefully developed virtue, there also is an alternative that presents itself.

It is between the possibility the United States might choose to go on killing ad infinitum and the probability it will do what it finally did in Korea, settle for a truce in which the side with more patience ultimately will carry the day.

The Road Back

The seesaw career of William C. Marland could be heading to a happy ending.

Now an associate of James F. Edwards, owner of Waterford Park and other enterprises, Mr. Marland once more will have an opportunity to demonstrate the executive ability which took him to and through the statehouse at Charleston as the youngest governor in West Virginia's history and other positions of responsibility.

Too much credit cannot be given a man who has been down on his luck and has the courage to fight back. Mr. Marland is such a man. His story has been an unusual one—the truth - is - stranger - than - fiction type.

Those who know Mr. Marland personally and the countless others who know him only through reading of his varied experiences will be pulling for him to stay at the top now that he successfully has completed the journey on the long and tortorous road back.

Variation On A Theme

Whenever an administrative official talks about cutting a public service to the bone because he isn't getting the money he says he needs, it is time to listen hard and think fast.

U.S. Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has said this about his department's prospects after the House of Representatives had cut his funds. "My problem is that I went in there with a budget pared to the bone. The President insists thats the way we do it. It isn't like 10 years ago when the Post Office Department went up there with a big fat budget to give the congressmen something to cut."

This leaves a taxpayer cross-eyed with puzzlement. If President Johnson wants it that way, why doesn't the postmaster general want it that way?

The other thing that baffles a taxpayer is the supposition that whenever a public service is cut to the bone there will be an anguished outcry. Mr. Gronouski says he foresees anguished outcries by Congress if he does any bone-cutting. Why should that concern him if he is carrying out presidential orders and Congressional orders to boot?

The truth is, anguished outcries against government budget-shrinking are not nearly so anguished as anguished department heads say they are going to be.

The truth is — always has been — that the federal government could cut everything it does by a flat 10 per cent, and other than moans by fat cats that no longer could live in a style to which they had become accustomed there wouldn't be a single anguished outcry.

Play It Safe

Local and district enthusiasts will play their part in what surveys reveal will be the "boating-est" season ever.

Whether the Ohio River belongs to West Virginia or Kentucky will make little difference to those who have the boating craze. The water looks just as inviting regardless of who claims ownership, and it soon will be crowded with craft of various sizes and descriptions.

With this constantly expanding use of the river goes the need for an increasing awareness of safe boating practices. Area boaters should brush up on the laws of water safety now. After the season gets into full swing it could be too late.

Phony Photos

By Truman Twill

Haven't teed off on phony photos recently.

They still bug me.

They have a competitor—the phony sequences that advertise junk on television.

I've had my say about hairy fellows who swab themselves down in my living room and the now-you-see-it-now-you-don't dolls who blow bubbles at me from the TV screen.

All that needs to be said about these wretches is that things must be tough when grown men and women have to hustle a buck by bathing in front of an audience.

The TV phoneys who make my hackles rise highest are the spielers who babble about nipping up to their place for a couple hundred bucks on loan, as if they intended to let you have it for nothing.

Also, limp old dolls who blame their work-worn hands on dishwater, when you can tell by looking at them they were born with deformed paws. Then they change their dishwashing goop and what happens? Their paws look just as rotten and crooked as they looked before.

These people are actors, therefore forgivable. The people who are not forgivable are not actors but politicians and assorted notables who pose for phony photos.

They are antagonists who look friendly for the camera, pretending to smile, though everybody knows they are relentless foes and cannot be left in the same room together.

They are VIPs who line up in casual poses as if talking things over in a leisurely manner, when in fact they haven't felt casual since they started up the ladder of success.

They are people with grave problems, who grin into the camera lens like happy morons, belying the well-known fact their health is failing from overwork and no one has seen them smile naturally for months.

They are brides looking lovelier than springtime and sweeter than forbidden sin, thanks to tedious sessions in a photographic studio and a half day's skilled work by a retouching artist.

They are members of committees peering over each other's shoulders at important documents, when in fact their committee never has met until it got together for the photographer.

When it's all said and done though, it is not the people who pose for the phony photos who annoy me as much as the photographers who encourage them to be phony.

Someday, a new breed of photographers will rise in the land, committed to the proposition that life should be depicted as it is, with people scowling when that would fit the occasion and, most important, refusing to pose for phony photos under any circumstances.

The merit of the real thing is obvious. Like a photograph of the Oxford crew propped up in front of me. Every man is disheveled and panting—obviously done in. They couldn't have made it more realistic if they had posed for it.

This 'n That

Canada, the second largest country in the world (after Russia), is almost as large as Europe and over 200,000 square miles larger than the United States. But less than one-tenth as many people live in Canada as in the U.S., because much of northern Canada is an empty wilderness of forests and frozen wasteland. Most Canadians live within 200 miles of their country's southern border.

The Pusher

Violence Flares In Kentucky

By Victor Riesel

HARLAN, Ky.

Once this area was nicknamed "Bloody Harlan." That was a long time ago and only those who remember Fatty Arbuckle and the coming of the movie talkies will recall this appellation in this tiny corner of Appalachia.

Victor Riesel

Now things are getting rough again in this mining country ranging up north to Hazard some 55 miles distant. As you drive down and talk to the miners you hear reports of an unreported civil war.

There are gunfire and dynamiting and assaults. Swift caravans carry hundreds of pickets, seeking out coaldiggers who work hundreds of non - union mines.

All this follows in the wake of a new unionizing drive launched last January by the fabled United Mine Workers (UMW), whose national headquarters in Washington has warned its people against violence.

UP HAZARD way on March 3, Ernest Creech, father of 10 children, was shot in the back by someone with a high-powered rifle. Creech died as he attempted to crack through the picket line at the Leatherwood No. 1 Mine of the Blue Diamond Coal Co.

The state police arrested 12 United Mine Workers and charged them with being accessories to murder. They're awaiting trial.

A few weeks earlier, here in the Harlan area, pickets shut down "truck mines"—so called because they haul their coal to the railhead in trucks.

Not long afterwards, dynamite was hurled from a speeding car. It exploded at the entrance of a non-union pit at High Splint.

On the previous day the home of Claude Blackburn, a non-union miner, was bombed. His porch and windows were shattered.

Thus it has been sporadically ever since. One non - union coaldigger in Perry County was thrown into a flaming barn. Others have been beaten by roving bands of pickets numbering anywhere from 25 to 90.

THERE'S FEAR HERE. One does not need to remember the old "bloody" days. Only as recently as 1962 one man was killed and some 20 men were injured.

Back in 1959 two men who worked for non - union small mines were killed and 50 injured.

But there's more to this war than rifles and dynamite sticks. Hundreds of million of dollars are at stake. I've driven through the Kentucky mine fields and from Chattanooga to Tracy City.

Everywhere one encounters small mines whose owners can't afford to pay the union rate of $124.17 for a 37.4 hour week — and a 40 cents-a-ton union tax for its welfare and pension fund.

In some areas such as the districts north of Chattanooga the small strip mines are not being worked. Families are on relief. Children run about barefooted — and not for the love of the soil. Their parents get surplus foods from the government.

THOSE MINES could operate and many of the idle men could earn from $90 to $100 a week. But the United Mine Workers has forced them to shut down.

There are some 5,000 small mines which are operating non-union. The pit owners united and called themselves the National Independent Coal Operators Association. They are the targets of the UMW unionizing drive.

The Independents are resisting and it may be tough going for the union built by Old King Coal himself — the 85-year-old John L. Lewis.

The Independents argue that signing with the UMW, now headed by W. A. (Tony) Boyle, would put them out of business. They say they can't go higher than the $18 a day they now pay their non-union miners.

They argue that since their profit is 30 cents a ton, how can they pay 40 cents tax to the union's welfare and pension fund.

THEY WARN that if they close up, more than 100,000 coal diggers will be thrown out of work. This would end total annual revenues of $480 million.

It could wreak more devastation on this sector of Appalachia. Scores of small cities would be cut off from taxes and trade growing out of the income earned by owners and miners from the small non - automated mines.

These cities now may not be booming, but they are zooming along fine. There is Pikeville, for example. Six years ago half its work force was jobless. Today Pikeville merchants and nearby mines seek more work hands.

So the Independents say what would be the sense in spending over a billion dollars to pull Appalachia out of its depression, if they are forced to close up and throw 100,000 coaldiggers on the jobless lists.

But the tradition - steeped UMW is not a union to back away from a drive which it launched under the legendary Lewis slogan of "Organize the Unorganized."

It looks like a hot summer in the cool mountains.

Boycott Protection

By David Lawrence

Legal Penalties Seen In Alabama Move

Unfamiliarity with the laws of the land is certainly widespread in America today. The mere fact that certain leaders of Negro organizations have proclaimed an intention to call for a boycott by the public of all products manufactured in Alabama tells only part of the story. What is not realized generally is that there are certain legal consequences which can flow from such an attempt to injure the businesses of private individuals. Not only are damage suits possible to recover any losses, but the Sherman Anti-Trust Act forbids all combinations or conspiracies "in restraint of trade" that may occur in interstate commerce.

David Lawrence

Unquestionably, in the case of a boycott of products made in Alabama and sold outside the state, interstate commerce is affected, and it's apparent that a combination of persons would be involved.

Also, if any companies act in concert not to purchase goods from that state, they could be held liable and suffer penalties under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

THE SUPREME COURT of the United States has ruled that the making of an actual agreement between members of such a combination is not always necessary to bring about a violation of the anti-trust law. The agreement may be implied — just so long as the result is a concerted action to boycott particular companies or their products. The Supreme Court in 1910 declared:

"An act harmless when done by one may become a public wrong when done by many, acting in concert, for it then takes on the form of a conspiracy, and may be prohibited or punished, if the result be hurtful to the public, or to the individual against whom the concerted action is directed."

The courts also have held that the word "boycott" itself could imply a threat to certain individuals or companies if they refused to comply with the demands made upon them.

The Constitution provides for the protection of individual rights. A person's business is entitled to protection from all unlawful interference, and damages can be imposed by courts if injury to a business can be proved.

Indeed, the framers of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 relied on the "interstate commerce" clause of the Constitution in outlawing racial discrimination, and yet a burden on commerce could also result from the proposed boycott. The boycott, too, could penalize innocent as well as guilty persons in Alabama, including Negroes.

IT HAS BEEN SAID that the proposed boycott would be protected by the right of freedom of speech as guaranteed in the First Amendment to the Constitution but the Supreme Court has ruled that there is no such thing as absolute freedom of speech. Thus, for instance, if someone cries "fire!" in a crowded theater and panic results, the damage inflicted by that individual cannot be disregarded just because it was a spoken word.

Likewise, obscenity and libel are not protected by the free speech clause of the Constitution.

The device of the "boycott" has, of course, been used by labor unions, and in certain respects it is lawful. This, however, concerns a dispute between an employer and his own employes. Picketing, moreover, is limited, and, while pickets may carry signs claiming a business is unfair to its employes and urging others not to patronize it, this does not mean that the same pickets can actually prevent sales of goods.

Pickets also may not interfere with the entrance to or exit from a factory or business by any person. Interference of this kind is subject to action by local police and also to injunctive relief in the courts.

There has been in recent years a trend toward the outlawing of "secondary boycotts." This involves boycotts of the business of third parties—companies, for example, which buy goods from employers who are engaged in disputes with their workers. Interference of this kind with the business of third parties is punishable.

BROADLY SPEAKING, the law does not protect general boycotts which can injure innocent persons. The Constitution stipulates that no one shall be deprived of property "without due process of law." A nationwide boycott instituted against products manufactured in a particular state and sold outside that state would, therefore, certainly come into conflict with the federal laws.

Innumerable damage suits probably could be filed against organizations and individuals instigating or participating in such boycotts.

These legal obstacles may be one of the reasons why there has been a tendency in the last few days to soft-pedal the boycott idea. President Johnson himself has let it be known that he thinks it would be unwise for the Negro organizations to attempt to apply that kind of pressure.

Obviously, if businesses in Alabama begin to be hurt and unemployment results, Negroes as well as whites would suffer the loss of jobs or incomes. The federal government itself then would have to supply funds for the relief of those who are forced out of their jobs.

Door Left Open

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The Johnson administration's switch to a softer line on how to start peace talks in Viet Nam raises a question about how thoroughly the problem was thought through in the first place.

The switch President Johnson made this week in his nationwide talk leaves the door open to an impression some of the U.S. policy is being made up as it goes along, except for the basic, original determination.

That part of the policy has always been clear: to save South Viet Nam from a Communist takeover.

But Johnson started out with a hard-nosed policy when, immediately after the Red guerrillas attacked an American air base, on Feb. 7 he ordered Communist North Viet Nam bombed.

And the White House explained: what was wanted was a "clear indication" from the Reds that they were ready to stop attacking the South. Later Johnson said he wanted peace talks conducted "under conditions that would be productive." And so on.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State Dean Rusk was echoing this line, almost to the point of banality, even though the repeated American bombing of North Viet Nam put no visible dent in the guerrillas. They kept on fighting.

As time passed the administration's tactics and position, as Johnson outlined it, were being criticized at home and abroad, by friends, neutrals, Russia and Red China.

It's understandable that in the beginning the administration must have felt the hard line on peace talks was necessary to convince the Reds that American policy and bombings were not just gestures to save face.

Two months of bombings brought no cries for peace from the Communists. And the criticism increased. Then Wednesday night Johnson abandoned the policy of laying down conditions before discussions could start.

(Johnson, however, said plainly the American bombings wouldn't stop and the United States wouldn't pull out "under the cloak of a meaningless agreement.")

But the switch on the peace talks, slight as it was, brought praise at home and abroad. Johnson also got criticism, not only from the Red Chinese who called his talk "lies and deception," but from Republicans, too.

It's hard to believe this new policy couldn't have been the policy from the beginning since the continued bombings, in the past as in the future, would if anything could, convince the Reds of American determination.

The very fact that Johnson finally made his broadcast explanation was also, in effect, a switch. He had been under pressure for weeks to make such a talk. But he and Rusk relied on cryptic, repetitious statements.

A Little Less Than Idealistic

It never can be known what impact President Johnson's idealistic proposal for lifting living standards in Southeast Asia might have if given a chance.

It won't have a chance.

Even if the men in Peking and Hanoi decided to go along with it, in hope of earning more time to carry out their own program, the President's proposal for international cooperation would bring little response from Asiatics in general.

President Johnson is aware of the power of Asiatic nationalism. President Kennedy, President Eisenhower and President Truman all were aware of it. President Roosevelt learned about it in the near-disaster of Japan's explosive accession of power.

Yet, most Westerners babble about the white man's burden, as if the West was still fighting Opium Wars over its disputed right to sell dope to Chinese masses.

THE OCCIDENTAL concept of keeping Asiatic territory open to all comers under an Open Door policy still dominates European and American thought.

To this day, only a handful of candid commentators have dared to tell Americans that in Viet Nam they are regarded as replacements for the French colonials routed in 1954 at Dienbienphu.

France, too, was opposing what it believed to be a Communist threat — and what was, undoubtedly a Communist-inspired and Communist-supported action. But there was vastly more to it than Communism.

Whether it was a beleaguered French army fighting the Vietminh, or a beleaguered South Vietnamese army fighting the Viet Cong, with U.S. support and assistance, the issue was not the ideology of Communism so much as the continued presence of Western influence in Southeast Asia.

It is hard to believe leaders in their right minds would turn down a proposal as attractive as President Johnson's blueprint for international cooperation to bring peace to Southeast Asia through prosperity.

But there is a world of difference between the rationale of an Asiatic in Hanoi and a statesman in Washington. Mr. Johnson's far-seeing and philanthropic proposal has overtones of Henry A. Wallace's once-famous proposal for providing daily milk rations to Hottentots.

THE HOTTENTOTS, of course, never heard of it. If they had heard of it, they wouldn't have understood it. They would not drink milk if they had it.

Does it mean, then, that the alternative to accepting President Johnson's open-handed and broadly conceived program for aid and succor to Southeast Asia is killing and more killing and more killing in Southeast Asia?

It would be nice if the killing could be stopped by adoption of the program.

But in the Orient, where patience is a carefully developed virtue, there also is an alternative that presents itself.

It is between the possibility the United States might choose to go on killing ad infinitum and the probability it will do what it finally did in Korea, settle for a truce in which the side with more patience ultimately will carry the day.

The Road Back

The seesaw career of William C. Marland could be heading to a happy ending.

Now an associate of James F. Edwards, owner of Waterford Park and other enterprises, Mr. Marland once more will have an opportunity to demonstrate the executive ability which took him to and through the statehouse at Charleston as the youngest governor in West Virginia's history and other positions of responsibility.

Too much credit cannot be given a man who has been down on his luck and has the courage to fight back. Mr. Marland is such a man. His story has been an unusual one—the truth - is - stranger - than - fiction type.

Those who know Mr. Marland personally and the countless others who know him only through reading of his varied experiences will be pulling for him to stay at the top now that he successfully has completed the journey on the long and torturous road back.

Variation On A Theme

Whenever an administrative official talks about cutting a public service to the bone because he isn't getting the money he says he needs, it is time to listen hard and think fast.

U.S. Postmaster General John A. Gronouski has said this about his department's prospects after the House of Representatives had cut his funds. "My problem is that I went in there with a budget pared to the bone. The President insists thats the way we do it. It isn't like 10 years ago when the Post Office Department went up there with a big fat budget to give the congressmen something to cut."

This leaves a taxpayer cross-eyed with puzzlement. If President Johnson wants it that way, why doesn't the postmaster general want it that way?

The other thing that baffles a taxpayer is the supposition that whenever a public service is cut to the bone there will be an anguished outcry. Mr. Gronouski says he foresees anguished outcries by Congress if he does any bone-cutting. Why should that concern him if he is carrying out presidential orders and Congressional orders to boot?

The truth is, anguished outcries against government budget-shrinking are not nearly so anguished as anguished department heads say they are going to be.

The truth is — always has been — that the federal government could cut everything it does by a flat 10 per cent, and other than moans by fat cats that no longer could live in a style to which they had become accustomed there wouldn't be a single anguished outcry.

Play It Safe

Local and district enthusiasts will play their part in what surveys reveal will be the "boating-est" season ever.

Whether the Ohio River belongs to West Virginia or Kentucky will make little difference to those who have the boating craze. The water looks just as inviting regardless of who claims ownership, and it soon will be crowded with craft of various sizes and descriptions.

With this constantly expanding use of the river goes the need for an increasing awareness of safe boating practices. Area boaters should brush up on the laws of water safety now. After the season gets into full swing it could be too late.

Phony Photos

By Truman Twill

Haven't teed off on phony photos recently.

They still bug me.

They have a competitor—the phony sequences that advertise junk on television.

I've had my say about hairy fellows who swab themselves down in my living room and the now-you-see-it-now-you-don't dolls who blow bubbles at me from the TV screen.

All that needs to be said about these wretches is that things must be tough when grown men and women have to hustle a buck by bathing in front of an audience.

The TV phoneys who make my hackles rise highest are the spielers who babble about nipping up to their place for a couple hundred bucks on loan, as if they intended to let you have it for nothing.

Also, limp old dolls who blame their work-worn hands on dishwater, when you can tell by looking at them they were born with deformed paws. Then they change their dishwashing goop and what happens? Their paws look just as rotten and crooked as they looked before.

These people are actors, therefore forgivable. The people who are not forgivable are not actors but politicians and assorted notables who pose for phony photos.

They are antagonists who look friendly for the camera, pretending to smile, though everybody knows they are relentless foes and cannot be left in the same room together.

They are VIPs who line up in casual poses as if talking things over in a leisurely manner, when in fact they haven't felt casual since they started up the ladder of success.

They are people with grave problems, who grin into the camera lens like happy morons, belying the well-known fact their health is failing from overwork and no one has seen them smile naturally for months.

They are brides looking lovelier than springtime and sweeter than forbidden sin, thanks to tedious sessions in a photographic studio and a half day's skilled work by a retouching artist.

They are members of committees peering over each other's shoulders at important documents, when in fact their committee never has met until it got together for the photographer.

When it's all said and done though, it is not the people who pose for the phony photos who annoy me as much as the photographers who encourage them to be phony.

Someday, a new breed of photographers will rise in the land, committed to the proposition that life should be depicted as it is, with people scowling when that would fit the occasion and, most important, refusing to pose for phony photos under any circumstances.

The merit of the real thing is obvious. Like a photograph of the Oxford crew propped up in front of me. Every man is disheveled and panting—obviously done in. They couldn't have made it more realistic if they had posed for it.

This 'n That

Canada, the second largest country in the world (after Russia), is almost as large as Europe and over 200,000 square miles larger than the United States. But less than one-tenth as many people live in Canada as in the U.S., because much of northern Canada is an empty wilderness of forests and frozen wasteland. Most Canadians live within 200 miles of their country's southern border.

The camel is one of the oldest known mammals now alive. The small humpless ancestors of the camel first appeared in North America millions of years ago, but today the camel is native only to the Old World.

Violence Flares In Kentucky

By Victor Riesel

HARLAN, Ky.

Once this area was nicknamed "Bloody Harlan." That was a long time ago and only those who remember Fatty Arbuckle and the coming of the movie talkies will recall this appellation in this tiny corner of Appalachia.

Victor Riesel

Now things are getting rough again in this mining country ranging up north to Hazard some 55 miles distant. As you drive down and talk to the miners you hear reports of an unreported civil war.

There are gunfire and dynamiting and assaults. Swift caravans carry hundreds of pickets, seeking out coaldiggers who work hundreds of non - union mines.

All this follows in the wake of a new unionizing drive launched last January by the fabled United Mine Workers (UMW), whose national headquarters in Washington has warned its people against violence.

UP HAZARD way on March 3, Ernest Creech, father of 10 children, was shot in the back by someone with a high-powered rifle. Creech died as he attempted to crack through the picket line at the Leatherwood No. 1 Mine of the Blue Diamond Coal Co.

The state police arrested 12 United Mine Workers and charged them with being accessories to murder. They're awaiting trial.

A few weeks earlier, here in the Harlan area, pickets shut down "truck mines"—so called because they haul their coal to the railhead in trucks.

Not long afterwards, dynamite was hurled from a speeding car. It exploded at the entrance of a non-union pit at High Splint.

On the previous day the home of Claude Blackburn, a non-union miner, was bombed. His porch and windows were shattered.

Thus it has been sporadically ever since. One non - union coaldigger in Perry County was thrown into a flaming barn. Others have been beaten by roving bands of pickets numbering anywhere from 25 to 90.

THERE'S FEAR HERE. One does not need to remember the old "bloody" days. Only as recently as 1962 one man was killed and some 20 men were injured.

But the switch on the peace talks, slight as it was, brought praise at home and abroad. Johnson also got criticism, not only from the Red Chinese who called his talk "lies and deception," but from Republicans, too.

It's hard to believe this new policy couldn't have been the policy from the beginning since the continued bombings, in the past as in the future, would if anything could, convince the Reds of American determination.

The very fact that Johnson finally made his broadcast explanation was also, in effect, a switch. He had been under pressure for weeks to make such a talk. But he and Rusk relied on cryptic, repetitious statements.

Cardinal Meyer, 62, Claimed In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Albert Cardinal Meyer, 62, Roman Catholic archbishop of Chicago, died today. He had undergone cancer surgery Feb. 25.

The prelate, head of the largest Catholic community in the United States, began sinking last week after showing some signs of improvement from the operation in which a malignant tumor the size of a large walnut was removed from his brain.

Earlier he had been taken off intravenous feeding and fed by tube. For a day or two he was unable to take soft nourishment normally.

Ever add crumbled blue cheese to Russian dressing? Good served over hearts of lettuce or tossed with a variety of salad greens — escarole, chicory, romaine and water cress.

Pierced Ears Go To College

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — As she strides along in knee-high boots, her freshly-ironed hair swings long and straight and true.

Golden hoops dangle provocatively from pierced ears and owl-eyed, horn - rimmed sunglasses lend an air of mystery.

Her sweater is turtlenecked; her jeans cut off above the knees disclose a strip of dark lacy stockings before the boots take over.

AN EXOTIC creature from some tale of espionage?

She is today's college girl — as she reveals herself in a recent poll of campus fads — perhaps taking a last fling at fantasy before becoming tomorrow's wife, mother, homemaker, career woman.

Mademoiselle magazine conducted the survey of 87 colleges and universities. It said the survey disclosed these new trends:

Pierced ears, which haven't enjoyed much of a vogue since grandma's day, are the rage. Transfixing academic lobes are golden hoops or long, arty earrings.

Girls who quail at the thought of surgery can get earrings that look as though they're for pierced ears.

The gypsy look is compounded by the prevailing hair style: long, smooth, swinging. Curly-heads and perfectionists pull out the ironong board and go to work flattening locks.

Dark glasses are so prevalent it looks as if the girls are studying to be celebrities. To see to take notes in class they push the sunglasses up on their heads like headbands. Some wear them on their heads all the time.

TEXTURED stockings are dearly beloved, especially peeping over the tops of tall boots, which apparently just about everybody wears.

Jeans and sweatshirts are still the college uniform for studying and out - of - class activities. Jeans are the traditional blue or the new wheat color, usually cut off around the knee area.

Figured In Desegregation Decision

Minton, 74, Former U.S. High Court Justice, Dies

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — Sherman Minton, 74, U.S. Supreme Court justice from 1949 to 1956, died today.

Minton, who took part in the historical school desegregation decision of 1954, was rushed to Floyd Memorial Hospital in New Albany a week ago, suffering severe intestinal bleeding. His condition quickly became critical.

Dr. Harry Voyles of New Albany, said Minton's condition had steadily deteriorated during the last 24 hours and he died at 2:33 a.m.

A Democrat, Minton was majority whip in the U.S. Senate from 1935 to 1941 and was a leader of "New Deal" legislation.

When he retired from the Supreme Court in 1956, he cited poor health, including pernicious anemia and a failing memory. In recent years, he twice survived grave illnesses — a blood clot near the heart in 1959 and a cerebral hemorrhage in 1961 while hospitalized with a broken ankle.

His wife, Gertrude, was with him when he died. Other survivors include a daughter, Mary Anne of Washington, D.C., and two sons, Dr. Sherman Minton Jr., Indianapolis, and John Minton of Washington.

Minton was considered one of the Supreme Court's five-judge conservative group when he retired.

But in his Senate campaign of 1934 during the depression, he had said, "You can't walk up to a hungry man today and say, 'Here, have a Constitution. You can't hand to the farmer who has been ground into the soil a Constitution and tell him to dig himself out.'"

As majority whip and an ardent New Dealer, Minton was a leader in supporting President Franklin D. Roosevelt's unsuccessful plan to enlarge the Supreme Court.

After losing to Republican Raymond E. Willis in his re-election bid in 1940, Minton was named by Roosevelt to the Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago the following year. Eight years later, President Harry S. Truman, Minton's colleague in the Senate, appointed him to the Supreme Court.

Minton said last year that he felt the unanimous decision for school integration was the most important action of the court during his term. He called the ruling inevitable.

A semi-invalid, Minton lived in near seclusion the last few years in his home in Silver Hills overlooking the Ohio River, only 8 miles from his birthplace.

Born Oct. 20, 1890, Minton attended public schools in New Albany graduating from its high school in 1910. In 1915 he was graduated from Indiana University summa cum laude with a bachelor of laws degree.

Castles in Spain are disappearing. During the past century many have been dismantled to obtain stones for building small homes and barns. Only 2,000 of 10,000 old castles remain.

Civil Rights Marches Set In 2 States

CAMDEN, Ala. (AP) — Civil rights leaders completed arrangements for marches today in two small towns — one in Alabama and the other in Louisiana — where violence has flared as Negroes sought voting rights and economic equality.

A permit for the march at Camden was granted by the five-member Town Council and Mayor Reginald Albritton. The mayor said Thursday demonstrators hadn't asked for one before.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said he would take part in a march through downtown Bogalusa, La. The town was tense after a flurry of gunfire in a Negro neighborhood two nights ago.

Police halted marchers in Camden, a town of 2,500, the past few days because they did not have a parade permit. Tear gas and smoke bombs were used to disperse one group.

Ronnie Moore, a CORE field director, called for all Negro pupils to stay out of school and join the march to protest alleged police brutality and what he called economic inequalities.

In Atlanta, the Rev. Andrew Young, SCLC executive secretary, outlined plans for a campaign in the South to register Negro voters and a Northern big-city crusade to preach nonviolence.

About 2,000 college students from the North, East and West will take part, he said.

"We are planning to see how many we can get registered from Alabama to Virginia and including north Florida," Young said in an interview. He is a key man in the SCLC headed by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

U.S. Looks To North Viet For Peace Talk Response

WASHINGTON (AP) — Johnson administration leaders looked to Communist North Viet Nam today for a decisive response to President Johnson's offer of peace talks.

An apparent rejection of the offer by Communist China was discounted by Washington officials on the ground that the real decision is up to North Viet Nam.

Peking broadcast Thursday that the President's Baltimore speech Wednesday night, in which he said the United States is ready for unconditional discussions on peace in Viet Nam, was full of "lies and deception."

The United States has insisted for several months that the main support of the Communist guerrillas fighting in South Viet Nam and the major control of their strategy are the responsibility of the Communist leadership in North Viet Nam and that if Hanoi would stop its infiltration of men and supplies peace could be quickly established in South Viet Nam.

Officials said that Hanoi was the main target of the President's peace-talk bid and that no reaction from any other place would be considered decisive. At the same time they said they had no indication whatever that the North Vietnamese were interested in peace talks.

Youth Hurt As Car Rolls Over Hillside

A 17-year-old city youth, injured when his car rolled down an embankment near the Country Club Thursday night, was in "fair" condition today at City Hospital.

Five other district residents were injured slightly in two other mishaps yesterday, the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

Clarence Crable, son of Irvin Crable, 607 Sanford St., received bruises of the head and arm when his 1961 coach smashed through guardrails on a curve of Park Way Ext. and rolled over, coming to rest on its wheels.

Larry Hamilton, 17, of 828 Morton St., a passenger, was apparently unhurt in the mishap at 7:20 p. m.

The patrol said Crable was headed south when he lost control on the curve and the auto veered off the left side and through the guardrails. He was charged with traveling at a speed in excess of safe road conditions.

Three Lisbon area women and a Columbiana area youth received minor injuries in a two-car collision on Route 164 a mile south of Columbiana at 7:15 p. m.

Kathleen Strong, 24, of Lisbon R. D. 4 was headed north and slowing down for traffic when her 1964 coach was rammed in the rear by a 1962 sedan operated by Gregory Covert, 17, of Columbiana R. D. 1.

The woman, along with two passengers — Dorothy Strong, 44, and Margory Strong, 20, also of Lisbon R. D. 4 — received possible back injuries. The youth suffered abrasions of the nose.

The youth was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Frank Adams, 45, of 153 N. Surrey Rd. was cited after his 1963 sedan struck a utility pole along Route 267 a half mile north of the city limits yesterday morning.

Adams, who suffered a bruised head and wrist, pleaded not guilty to a charge of excessive speed for road conditions this morning in Municipal Court, and a hearing will be held on the charge Wednesday.

Officers said he was headed south when the car veered off the left side of the road at a curve and struck the pole, causing extensive damage to the auto.

payments with other liberalizing changes in the system.

An extra $69.90 to be withheld next year from workers making at least $5,600 yearly.

The American Medical Association renewed its opposition to the bill, calling on the Senate to hold public hearings. An AMA statement said that because the House held no such hearings on the final version of the bill Americans were "denied the opportunity" to learn "just how this legislation would affect their lives."

The AMA renewed its advocacy of a state-administered system and its opposition to payroll tax-financed hospitalization, saying, "We are opposed to centralizing control over hospitals and doctors under a federal bureaucracy."

The payroll tax increase to finance the hospital plan and the increased old-age benefits would amount to $69.90 next year on workers earning at least $5,600, and their employers. Other increases would come later.

Figured In Desegregation Decision

Minton, 74, Former U.S. High Court Justice, Dies

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — Sherman Minton, 74, U.S. Supreme Court justice from 1949 to 1956, died today.

Minton, who took part in the historical school desegregation decision of 1954, was rushed to Floyd Memorial Hospital in New Albany a week ago, suffering severe intestinal bleeding. His condition quickly became critical.

Dr. Harry Voyles of New Albany, said Minton's condition had steadily deteriorated during the last 24 hours and he died at 2:33 a.m.

A Democrat, Minton was majority whip in the U.S. Senate from 1935 to 1941 and was a leader of "New Deal" legislation.

When he retired from the Supreme Court in 1956, he cited poor health, including pernicious anemia and a failing memory. In recent years, he twice survived grave illnesses — a blood clot near the heart in 1959 and a cerebral hemorrhage in 1961 while hospitalized with a broken ankle.

His wife, Gertrude, was with him when he died. Other survivors include a daughter, Mary Anne of Washington, D.C., and two sons, Dr. Sherman Minton Jr., Indianapolis, and John Minton of Washington.

Minton was considered one of the Supreme Court's five-judge conservative group when he retired.

But in his Senate campaign of 1934 during the depression, he had said, "You can't walk up to a hungry man today and say, 'Here, have a Constitution. You can't hand to the farmer who has been ground into the soil a Constitution and tell him to dig himself out.'"

As majority whip and an ardent New Dealer, Minton was a leader in supporting President Franklin D. Roosevelt's unsuccessful plan to enlarge the Supreme Court.

After losing to Republican Raymond E. Willis in his re-election bid in 1940, Minton was named by Roosevelt to the Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago the following year. Eight years later, President Harry S. Truman, Minton's colleague in the Senate, appointed him to the Supreme Court.

Minton said last year that he felt the unanimous decision for school integration was the most important action of the court during his term. He called the ruling inevitable.

A semi-invalid, Minton lived in near seclusion the last few years in his home in Silver Hills overlooking the Ohio River, only 8 miles from his birthplace.

Born Oct. 20, 1890, Minton attended public schools in New Albany graduating from its high school in 1910. In 1915 he was graduated from Indiana University summa cum laude with a bachelor of laws degree.

Tuition Boosted By Mount Union

ALLIANCE, Ohio — Tuition at Mount Union College will be increased $40 per term, effective this fall, under action taken by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees.

One of the prime reasons for the increase is to enable the college to raise faculty salaries, the board said.

The 59 full-time members of the faculty will receive an average increase of $744 next year.

The tuition increase also will go to meet the college's general operating expenses, President Carl C. Bracy reported.

"It is essential that Mount Union College remain a quality institution with a balanced budget where faculty members receive the salaries they should and additions can be made to faculty to better serve the students," he said.

The tuition, including fees, per term will be: $450, bachelor of arts and bachelor of science; $475, bachelor of music education, and $490, bachelor of music.

The increase represents yearly tuitions of $1,350, $1,425 and $1,470, respectively.

Tuition Boosted By Mount Union

ALLIANCE, Ohio — Tuition at Mount Union College will be increased $40 per term, effective this fall, under action taken by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees.

One of the prime reasons for the increase is to enable the college to raise faculty salaries, the board said.

The 59 full-time members of the faculty will receive an average increase of $744 next year.

The tuition increase also will go to meet the college's general operating expenses, President Carl C. Bracy reported.

"It is essential that Mount Union College remain a quality institution with a balanced budget where faculty members receive the salaries they should and additions can be made to faculty to better serve the students," he said.

The tuition, including fees, per term will be: $450, bachelor of arts and bachelor of science; $475, bachelor of music education, and $490, bachelor of music.

The increase represents yearly tuitions of $1,350, $1,425 and $1,470, respectively.

Answers On What It May Mean If It Becomes Law

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — What would be in it for you if the new Social Security-health bill passed Thursday night by the House is approved also by the Senate and signed into law by President Johnson?

Something, now or later, unless you're a very exceptional case. If you are 65 or older there can be a great deal. If you are still working, probably more taxes to pay next year.

All this, of course, is based on the assumption that the Senate passes the bill and that its final form is not much different from its present shape.

If you are 65 or older, you come in automatically under a new hospitalization plan. It doesn't matter whether you are drawing Social Security or ever have, or even whether you are working. If you are not a recently arrived alien or a retired federal employe eligible for similar benefits, you are covered.

The hospital plan would take effect July 1, 1966. It provides up to 60 days in a hospital and up to 20 days recuperation in a nursing home for each illness. If you don't use all the hospital time, you can extend the nursing-home time. After you pay the first $40, the plan takes over. No doctor bills are paid under this basic plan.

But if you want protection against doctor bills and some other health expenses, you can sign up for a national medical insurance plan. It will cost you $3 a month, which will be deducted from your Social Security check if you get one. Otherwise you can remit direct. Under this plan, you pay the first $50 of expenses in any year and then the insurance takes care of 80 per cent of the remainder.

Say you have an operation that involves a $300 hospital-nursing-home bill and $250 doctor bills. That's a $550 total.

If you had both plans you would pay $40 plus $50 plus 20 per cent of 200, which is $40, or a total of $130 out of the $550.

If you are drawing Social Security old-age payments, you get a 7 per cent raise, with a guarantee the raise will be not less than $4 a month.

Moreover, the increase is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965.

If you are now or soon will be 72 and are a former worker, or the widow of one, who had some Social Security coverage but not enough to qualify for payments under the former law, the bill may be especially good news Depending on age and the length of time worked in covered employment, you may be eligible for a monthly check.

But suppose you are not 65 and retired, but younger and working and in a job covered by Social Security. Then, you pay

Most of the $6-billion cost of the new social legislation package comes from a stepup in the payroll tax paid by workers and their employers.

The first increase comes next Jan. 1 and there are more over the years.

However, as you approach retirement, the higher retirement pay awaiting you goes up.

But so does the tax.

Meanwhile, if you have a family, you have better family protection.

Under the old law, benefits for a deceased worker's child stopped at 18. Now, if the child is still in school or college, the benefits would continue until age 22.

The additional tax that will be withheld from your paychecks next year, if you make as much as $5,600, will be $69.90.

There is much more in the big bill, but it's pretty special.

Are you a member of the old-order Amish who object on religious grounds to Social Security? You can exempt yourself from the self-employment tax.

Are you a waitress or another kind of employe largely dependent on tips? The tips now count for Social Security tax and benefits.

Are you a self-employed doctor? You're in the Social Security system.

boy for the Middletown Journal, was struck by lightning as he stood under a tree near his home. He had just completed his paper route and was en route home.

The winds blew off a section of the roof at the 27 - story Kroger Co. building in Cincinnati, and a number of downtown store windows were smashed. A bowling alley in suburban Bevis was forced to close when part of the roof collapsed and water poured out over 10 lanes.

In one weird incident, New Baltimore volunteer fireman Harry Meyer and his wife were in their trailer home when a high wind—possibly a tornado—lifted it into the air and flip-landed on its top. Meyer was taken to Fort Hamilton Hospital in Hamilton with multiple injuries and his wife was treated for shock and leg injuries.

A home at Lake White, near Waverly, lost its roof in the twister. The roof landed in the middle of the lake.

The tornado saved its hardest punch for Lucasville.

All four lanes of U.S. 23, the major north - south highway through the area were blocked by debris for at least two hours after the tornado struck.

The Norfolk & Western Railway tracks in Lucasville also were blocked for some time.

High tension lines were reported down all over the area, making movement hazardous for a time. Extra crews of both the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric and Cincinnati Gas & Electric Companies worked through the night to restore lines and power in many hard-hit areas.

As part of its report, the jury commended Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan and his staff on the operation of the County Jail.

The jury's probe was interrupted briefly Tuesday afternoon when it was discovered one member of the panel was a Lisbon man on probation on a charge of mail theft. He was replaced by an East Liverpool woman and the investigation resumed.

Salineville Council To Act On Chief Post

SALINEVILLE — Appointment of a new police chief is among actions to be considered at a meeting of Council Monday night at 7:30, Mayor Stanley Fitch announced.

Chief Earl Laney submitted his resignation effective April 15 at a March meeting. Plans for the summer road and street program will also be aired, Mayor Fitch said.

unanimous Senate passage Thursday of a resolution condemning the Klan as a "society of hooded biggots". They also introduced a pair of bills they said would outlaw Klan activities in the state.

Sens. Michael J. Maloney, R-Hamilton, and Ray T. Miller, D - Cuyahoga, sponsored all three proposals.

House members passed six bills and received 16 new ones before heading home for weekend recess.

Approval was given to measures permitting the Division of Watercraft to spend funds for promotion of safety and clearing the way for the financially-troubled Ohio Historical Society of $1.3 million from the state.

Also passed and sent to the Senate were measures reducing the population requirement for community college districts from 100,000 to 75,000 and providing for insurance department licensing of bail bondsmen.

Rep. Carl B. Stokes, D-Cuyahoga, cosponsor of the bail bond measure, said it resulted primarily from reports of illegal transactions in Cleveland and Akron involving bondsmen and public officials.

Among bills introduced were proposals to set standards and revise regulations for operation of tuberculosis hospitals and provide open court hearings for juveniles over 16 charged with felonies.

Communists Leave Berlin Road Open

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists left the Berlin autobahn open throughout the morning today for the first time since they started closing it on Monday.

A U.S. military convoy of four vehicles and nine men was cleared for West Berlin without trouble. Civilian traffic moved in both directions.

The Communists offered no explanation for the change in procedure. For the past four days they have closed down the autobahn every morning at 9 a.m. for three or four hours.

There was still a possibility, however, that the Communists would close the autobahn later in the day. A Soviet officer told newsmen Thursday night in Helmstedt that the daily shutdowns would continue until Soviet-East German military maneuvers end on Sunday.

There was a marked slowdown on traffic entering the West German end of the 110-mile superhighway. Trucks were backed up for 7 miles at the Helmstedt checkpoint and were waiting 27 to 28 hours before going through the Communist controls.

About 100 cars were lined up at Helmstedt. The waiting period for them was three to four hours.

Health Care And You

Answers On What It May Mean If It Becomes Law

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — What would be in it for you if the new Social Security-health bill passed Thursday night by the House is approved also by the Senate and signed into law by President Johnson?

Something, now or later, unless you're a very exceptional case. If you are 65 or older there can be a great deal. If you are still working, probably more taxes to pay next year.

All this, of course, is based on the assumption that the Senate passes the bill and that its final form is not much different from its present shape.

If you are 65 or older, you come in automatically under a new hospitalization plan. It doesn't matter whether you are drawing Social Security or ever have, or even whether you are working. If you are not a recently arrived alien or a retired federal employe eligible for similar benefits, you are covered.

The hospital plan would take effect July 1, 1966. It provides up to 60 days in a hospital and up to 20 days recuperation in a nursing home for each illness. If you don't use all the hospital time, you can extend the nursing-home time. After you pay the first $40, the plan takes over. No doctor bills are paid under this basic plan.

But if you want protection against doctor bills and some other health expenses, you can sign up for a national medical insurance plan. It will cost you $3 a month, which will be deducted from your Social Security check if you get one. Otherwise you can remit direct. Under this plan, you pay the first $50 of expenses in any year and then the insurance takes care of 80 per cent of the remainder.

Say you have an operation that involves a $300 hospital-nursing-home bill and $250 doctor bills. That's a $550 total.

If you had both plans you would pay $40 plus $50 plus 20 per cent of 200, which is $40, or a total of $130 out of the $550.

If you are drawing Social Security old-age payments, you get a 7 per cent raise, with a guarantee the raise will be not less than $4 a month.

Moreover, the increase is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1965.

If you are now or soon will be 72 and are a former worker, or the widow of one, who had some Social Security coverage but not enough to qualify for payments under the former law, the bill may be especially good news Depending on age and the length of time worked in covered employment, you may be eligible for a monthly check.

But suppose you are not 65 and retired, but younger and working and in a job covered by Social Security. Then, you pay

Most of the $6-billion cost of the new social legislation package comes from a stepup in the payroll tax paid by workers and their employers.

The first increase comes next Jan. 1 and there are more over the years.

However, as you approach retirement, the higher retirement pay awaiting you goes up.

But so does the tax.

Meanwhile, if you have a family, you have better family protection.

Under the old law, benefits for a deceased worker's child stopped at 18. Now, if the child is still in school or college, the benefits would continue until age 22.

The additional tax that will be withheld from your paychecks next year, if you make as much as $5,600, will be $69.90.

There is much more in the big bill, but it's pretty special.

Are you a member of the old-order Amish who object on religious grounds to Social Security? You can exempt yourself from the self-employment tax.

Are you a waitress or another kind of employe largely dependent on tips? The tips now count for Social Security tax and benefits.

Are you a self-employed doctor? You're in the Social Security system.

unanimous Senate passage Thursday of a resolution condemning the Klan as a "society of hooded biggots". They also introduced a pair of bills they said would outlaw Klan activities in the state.

Sens. Michael J. Maloney, R-Hamilton, and Ray T. Miller, D - Cuyahoga, sponsored all three proposals.

House members passed six bills and received 16 new ones before heading home for weekend recess.

Approval was given to measures permitting the Division of Watercraft to spend funds for promotion of safety and clearing the way for the financially-troubled Ohio Historical Society of $1.3 million from the state.

Also passed and sent to the Senate were measures reducing the population requirement for community college districts from 100,000 to 75,000 and providing for insurance department licensing of bail bondsmen.

Rep. Carl B. Stokes, D-Cuyahoga, cosponsor of the bail bond measure, said it resulted primarily from reports of illegal transactions in Cleveland and Akron involving bondsmen and public officials.

Among bills introduced were proposals to set standards and revise regulations for operation of tuberculosis hospitals and provide open court hearings for juveniles over 16 charged with felonies.

Communists Leave Berlin Road Open

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists left the Berlin autobahn open throughout the morning today for the first time since they started closing it on Monday.

A U.S. military convoy of four vehicles and nine men was cleared for West Berlin without trouble. Civilian traffic moved in both directions.

The Communists offered no explanation for the change in procedure. For the past four days they have closed down the autobahn every morning at 9 a.m. for three or four hours.

There was still a possibility, however, that the Communists would close the autobahn later in the day. A Soviet officer told newsmen Thursday night in Helmstedt that the daily shutdowns would continue until Soviet-East German military maneuvers end on Sunday.

There was a marked slowdown on traffic entering the West German end of the 110-mile superhighway. Trucks were backed up for 7 miles at the Helmstedt checkpoint and were waiting 27 to 28 hours before going through the Communist controls.

About 100 cars were lined up at Helmstedt. The waiting period for them was three to four hours.

boy for the Middletown Journal, was struck by lightning as he stood under a tree near his home. He had just completed his paper route and was en route home.

The winds blew off a section of the roof at the 27 - story Kroger Co. building in Cincinnati, and a number of downtown store windows were smashed. A bowling alley in suburban Bevis was forced to close when part of the roof collapsed and water poured out over 10 lanes.

In one weird incident, New Baltimore volunteer fireman Harry Meyer and his wife were in their trailer home when a high wind—possibly a tornado—lifted it into the air and flip-landed on its top. Meyer was taken to Fort Hamilton Hospital in Hamilton with multiple injuries and his wife was treated for shock and leg injuries.

A home at Lake White, near Waverly, lost its roof in the twister. The roof landed in the middle of the lake.

The tornado saved its hardest punch for Lucasville.

All four lanes of U.S. 23, the major north - south highway through the area were blocked by debris for at least two hours after the tornado struck.

The Norfolk & Western Railway tracks in Lucasville also were blocked for some time.

High tension lines were reported down all over the area, making movement hazardous for a time. Extra crews of both the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric and Cincinnati Gas & Electric Companies worked through the night to restore lines and power in many hard-hit areas.

Yankees, Reds Picked Here . . .

Next Monday, only 40 miles from here, the national pastime will get under way when the Pittsburgh Pirates open the season at home for one of the first times in many years.

The Pirates will oppose the San Francisco Giants, but that's incidental so far as today's column is concerned. The question is who will win the pennants in the respective leagues and also should we try our crystal ball or use tea leaves in an effort to pick a winner.

We batter .500 in 1964 season. We selected the St. Louis Cardinals to win the National League, but flunked out on the Junior Circuit by favoring the Minnesota Twins, when we really knew better.

The National League couldn't have had a tighter finish, with four teams coming down the home stretch before the Cardinals won by a nose.

We aren't picking the Cards this year. We feel the Cincinnati Reds will be on top this time, with the Phillies, Cards, Giants, Dodgers and possibly the Braves making a run for the title. The Pirates appear doomed to the second division again.

In the American League, why fool ourselves, we'll sink or swim with the Yankees, who manage to swim right to the top year in and year out.

Here's the complete rundown as we see it:

NATIONAL LEAGUE	AMERICAN LEAGUE
1. Cincinnati	1. New York
2. Philadelphia	2. Chicago
3. San Francisco	3. Baltimore
4. St. Louis	4. Minnesota
5. Los Angeles	5. Cleveland
6. Milwaukee	6. Detroit
7. Pittsburgh	7. Los Angeles
8. Chicago	8. Boston
9. New York	9. Kansas City
10. Houston	10. Washington

Wellsville To Meet Big Red . . .

EAST LIVERPOOL HIGH dropped Wellsville in football, but so far hasn't found a replacement on the 1965 schedule.

While ELHS continues to look, Wellsville placed Steubenville Big Red on its schedule for the Oct. 8 contest.

Other than a home-and-home contract in basketball next season, Wellsville officials have ruled out any other athletic competition with East Liverpool as a result of the two neighboring schools ending grid relations.

The two schools will not meet in track this spring and Wellsville does not plan to schedule East Liverpool in junior high sports next season.

Dropped from next season's basketball schedule is Toronto High. East Liverpool and Toronto could not agree on a date for the coming season. Toronto was the top gate at Memorial Auditorium this past basketball campaign.

THERE HAS never been a better parade of talent then appeared in last week's Nonpareil Club Junior Tourney which drew the largest crowd in the tournament's 18 year history.

The tournament did give area fans the Midland-Uniontown game which proved to be a dandy final.

While the Nonpareil Club was successful especially in attendance the conflicting dates hurt the Wellsville Jaycee Tournament which also had some fine college talent.

The Wellsville tournament announced their dates long before the Nonpareil Club had settled on when its tournament would be held. We hope in the future something can be worked out by the sponsoring organizations to avoid any conflict.

Player's 65 Leads Hot Masters Field

Nicklaus, 3 Others Finish With 67

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A putting tip from American Ed Furgol has helped move South Africa's Gary Player in front of the hottest band of shooters in the history of the prestige-laden Masters Golf Tournament today.

The 5-foot-7, 153-pound muscle man fired a seven-under-par 32-33—65 at a course he called "The Monster" and still wound up only two strokes in front of a formidable American quartet of favored Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema, Dan Sikes and Tommy Aaron.

Even with that 65 — one stroke behind the course and Masters record of 64 set in the opening round by second-place finisher Lloyd Mangrum in 1940 — the chipper South African had a tremendous task ahead of him if he hoped to duplicate his 1961 Masters victory.

The elite field of 91 of the world's best pro and amateur golfers relentlessly hammered the proud par 36-36—72, 6,980-yard course of the Augusta National Golf Course from the opening first-round shots in the morning until Player came roaring home around 6 p.m. on a hot and perfect day for golf.

Thirty-three players were under par and 44 were par or better as the stars treated the layout as if it was a short public links course.

In all, 11 players shot 69s or better, nine had 70s—including defending champion and four-times winner Arnold Palmer—13 had 71s and 11 matched par 72.

Frank Beard of Louisville, one of the best of the young set, was all alone in fifth place at 68.

The 69 group included Doug Sanders, only winner of two tournaments on the winter circuit; Ray Floyd, a cocky, 22-year-old bomber from Fayetteville, N.C., who says, "I can win it," Wes Ellis Jr.; long-hitting George Bayer, and fiery Tommy Bolt.

Player, a 29-year-old farmer who lifts weights to build up his strength and add yardage to his drives, unloaded his big guns right from the start. He fired three straight birdies and wound up with seven in all and no bogeys.

He required only 30 putts, using a putter he bought for $50 in Tokyo Garish Ginza, and a stance suggested by Furgol, the former U.S. Open champion from Export, Pa., only last weekend.

Nicklaus, off his 32-35, which easily could have been trimmed by two or three strokes with any breaks, still was rated the choice to win.

Masters Scores

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The leaders in the first round of the Masters Golf Tournament Thursday:

Dan Sikes	35-32—67
Tony Lema	34-33—67
Jack Nicklaus	32-35—67
Tommy Aaron	35-32—67
Frank Beard	34-34—68
George Bayer	34-35—69
Wes Ellis	36-33—69

Tri-State Will Have New Champ; Auto Body-Shaffer Rematch Seen

Four Games Are Slated For Tonight

A new champion will be crowned in the 40th annual Tri-State Tournament which begins tonight and ends Saturday at Memorial Auditorium.

White Insurance, the defending champ, which was led to the title by Ron Galbreath and his Westminster College teammates last year, has not returned to defend the title.

A rematch between Auto Body Supply and Shaffer Trucking the finalists in the Wellsville Jaycee Tournament is possible.

Auto Body has been installed as the tourney favorite with Willie Somerset, the all-time scorer at Duquesne, Willy Ross, Dennis Cuff, Red Jones, Mickey Yugovich, Jim Gardner and Jim Robertson, Herb Lake, and Frank Fisk heading the lineup.

Shaffer's will attempt to counter with some ex-Kent State and Akron U. standouts in Bob Green, Dick Dennis, Skeeter Wallace, Jim Maddox, Charlie Boykin and Jack Arnold.

Action gets underway at 7 tonight when Shaffer's tangles with Amo's Esso of Rochester. Amo's will have past and present Geneva College players.

Mohawk Tire of Akron and World Book & Bible of East Liverpool meet at 8 with Auto Body appearing at 9 against the Our Company Garage of Salineville.

Joe's All-Stars, a runnerup at Sebring last week, and a past winner of the Tri-State tourney will go up against a local five in Uncle Pete's in the final game of the evening beginning at 10.

Between the last semi-final game and championship tilt Saturday night in the Tri-State tournament, an all-star team from the Seventh Grade League in East Liverpool will meet Beaver Local's eighth grade team which won the county championship this past season.

Members of the East Liverpool team are Joe Walker, Joe March, Mike Smith, Jack Melvin, Bob Kinsey, Randy McVay, Allen Pearson, Steve Golden, John Cunningham and Jim Lynch.

Reserve seat tickets for Saturday's semi-finals and final game will be on sale at Connell's Candy Shop on E. 6th St. today and Saturday and will be sold at the game tonight.

Dodger Castoffs Helping Senators

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Care package Los Angeles shipped to Washington appears to be waging an effective war on the Senators' poverty.

Currently spearheading the attack is Phil Ortega, a 25-year-old Arizonan of Mexican-Indian descent.

Ortega, part of the Care package from the Dodgers, helped spark the Senators to an 8-3 victory over Baltimore and to the top of the American League's exhibition baseball standings Thursday.

The right-hander was one of five players the Dodgers gave the Senators for pitcher Claude Osteen and infielder John Kennedy last December.

Emigrating from the West Coast to the nation's capital with Ortega were infielder Ken McMullen, first baseman Dick Nen, outfielder Frank Howard and pitcher Pete Richert.

In 35 innings of spring pitching, the Senators' busiest hurler has compiled a 1.91 earned-run average, best on the time. He has permitted only two runs and seven hits in the last 18 innings.

In his final tuneup for the season's opener against Boston next Monday, Ortega blanked the Orioles for five innings before Nick Willhite, another ex-Dodger, completed the six-hitter by allowing all three Oriole runs.

McMullen collected four hits in the victory that boosted Washington's record to 11-10.

In another development Thursday, St. Louis traded pitcher Bob Humphreys to the Chicago Cubs for two minor leaguers, infielder Bobby Pfeil and pitcher Harold Gibson.

The Cardinals whipped the New York Mets 6-1 as Curt Flood rapped three singles and a double and Ken Boyer two doubles and a single.

Stan Williams helped pitch and bat Cleveland to a 4-1 victory over San Francisco. The former Yankee allowed four hits in six innings and scored in the fourth after singling.

In other games, the Yankees stopped Milwaukee 6-1, Cincinnati downed the Chicago White Sox 5-1, Kansas City ended a nine-game losing string with an 8-4 triumph over Minnesota, Jacksonville of the International League toppled the Dodgers 4-1 and rain washed out the Cubs and Boston.

Selkirk's Golf Clubs Stolen At White House

WASHINGTO N(AP) — General Manager George Selkirk of the Washington Senators had his golf clubs stolen Thursday while calling on President Johnson at the White House.

But the thief — if he's right-handed, is in for a frustrating time. Selkirk is a lefty.

Selkirk said the clubs were stolen from his car while he was with a delegation that delivered to Johnson a pass good for all this season's major league baseball games.

Ron Perranoski of the Dodgers holds the Michigan State career record for most innings pitched. Between the 1956-58 seasons he worked a total of 213 2-3 innings.

Player's 65 Leads Hot Masters Field

Nicklaus, 3 Others Finish With 67

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — A putting tip from American Ed Furgol has helped move South Africa's Gary Player in front of the hottest band of shooters in the history of the prestige-laden Masters Golf Tournament today.

The 5-foot-7, 153-pound muscle man fired a seven-under-par 32-33—65 at a course he called "The Monster" and still wound up only two strokes in front of a formidable American quartet of favored Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema, Dan Sikes and Tommy Aaron.

Even with that 65 — one stroke behind the course and Masters record of 64 set in the opening round by second-place finisher Lloyd Mangrum in 1940 — the chipper South African had a tremendous task ahead of him if he hoped to duplicate his 1961 Masters victory.

The elite field of 91 of the world's best pro and amateur golfers relentlessly hammered the proud par 36-36—72, 6,980-yard course of the Augusta National Golf Course from the opening first-round shots in the morning until Player came roaring home around 6 p.m. on a hot and perfect day for golf.

Thirty-three players were under par and 44 were par or better as the stars treated the layout as if it was a short public links course.

In all, 11 players shot 69s or better, nine had 70s—including defending champion and four-times winner Arnold Palmer—13 had 71s and 11 matched par 72.

Frank Beard of Louisville, one of the best of the young set, was all alone in fifth place at 68.

The 69 group included Doug Sanders, only winner of two tournaments on the winter circuit; Ray Floyd, a cocky, 22-year-old bomber from Fayetteville, N.C., who says, "I can win it," Wes Ellis Jr.; long-hitting George Bayer, and fiery Tommy Bolt.

Player, a 29-year-old farmer who lifts weights to build up his strength and add yardage to his drives, unloaded his big guns right from the start. He fired three straight birdies and wound up with seven in all and no bogeys.

He required only 30 putts, using a putter he bought for $50 in Tokyo Garish Ginza, and a stance suggested by Furgol, the former U.S. Open champion from Export, Pa., only last weekend.

Nicklaus, off his 32-35, which easily could have been trimmed by two or three strokes with any breaks, still was rated the choice to win.

WVU's Varsity Cage Assistant Resigns

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Bob Lochmueller, West Virginia University's assistant varsity basketball coach, says Coach George King's resignation had nothing to do with his own decision to leave.

Lochmueller announced Thursday that he is resigning to join a life insurance company office in College Park, Md. He said he had been thinking about leaving coaching for some time.

King left Wednesday to become head basketball coach at Purdue University.

Dodger Castoffs Helping Senators

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Care package Los Angeles shipped to Washington appears to be waging an effective war on the Senators' poverty.

Currently spearheading the attack is Phil Ortega, a 25-year-old Arizonan of Mexican-Indian descent.

Ortega, part of the Care package from the Dodgers, helped spark the Senators to an 8-3 victory over Baltimore and to the top of the American League's exhibition baseball standings Thursday.

The right-hander was one of five players the Dodgers gave the Senators for pitcher Claude Osteen and infielder John Kennedy last December.

Emigrating from the West Coast to the nation's capital with Ortega were infielder Ken McMullen, first baseman Dick Nen, outfielder Frank Howard and pitcher Pete Richert.

In 35 innings of spring pitching, the Senators' busiest hurler has compiled a 1.91 earned-run average, best on the time. He has permitted only two runs and seven hits in the last 18 innings.

In his final tuneup for the season's opener against Boston next Monday, Ortega blanked the Orioles for five innings before Nick Willhite, another ex-Dodger, completed the six-hitter by allowing all three Oriole runs.

McMullen collected four hits in the victory that boosted Washington's record to 11-10.

In another development Thursday, St. Louis traded pitcher Bob Humphreys to the Chicago Cubs for two minor leaguers, infielder Bobby Pfeil and pitcher Harold Gibson.

The Cardinals whipped the New York Mets 6-1 as Curt Flood rapped three singles and a double and Ken Boyer two doubles and a single.

Stan Williams helped pitch and bat Cleveland to a 4-1 victory over San Francisco. The former Yankee allowed four hits in six innings and scored in the fourth after singling.

In other games, the Yankees stopped Milwaukee 6-1, Cincinnati downed the Chicago White Sox 5-1, Kansas City ended a nine-game losing string with an 8-4 triumph over Minnesota, Jacksonville of the International League toppled the Dodgers 4-1 and rain washed out the Cubs and Boston.

Russell Sets Pace, Boston Whips 76ers

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's Bill Russell has successfully made a surprise raid on Wilt Chamberlain's domain — scoring.

As a result, the Celtics beat Philadelphia 112-94 in the Eastern Division playoff finals Thursday night. They lead the best-of-7 National Basketball Association series 2-1 moving into game No. 4 on the 76ers' court tonight.

"Russell really beat us with those tap-ins and he did a great job on the offensive boards," said Chamberlain. "Heck, yes, he surprised me the way he scored early in the game. But I don't know what I could do about it."

Russell, blaming his sub-par performance for the second-game defeat, scored 12 of his 19 points as Boston jumped off to a 34-27 first-quarter lead Thursday night. He held the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain without a field goal until there were eight seconds left in the first half.

Chamberlain finished ahead 24-19 in the game and 37-26 in rebounds but the damage had been done. Russell had the better shooting average, a 9-7 edge in field goals, 8-1 bulge in assists, and was ahead 3-1 in steals.

The Western Division playoff finals resume tonight at Baltimore with the Los Angeles Lakers meeting the Bullets in the fourth game of their best-of-7 series. The Lakers hold a 2-1 lead.

Weber Leads In Akron Pin Tournament

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Match game play failed to slow down Dick Weber of St. Louis, as he won six of his eight games Thursday night in the $100,000 Firestone Professional Bowlers Association Tournament of Champions.

Weber lost one game and tied one to pile up 7,559 actual and bonus pins as he held the lead over defending champion Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., who made a big move toward a successful defense of the crown he won at Indianapolis in 1962.

Weber's eight-game total was 1730, lower than the sizzling 1889 he fired in the afternoon but good enough to take the measure of all his opponents except Dick Downey of Bloomfield, N. J., and Joseph. Downey defeated Weber 224-221 in the seventh game, while Joseph tied Weber 234-234 in the fourth game.

Joseph moved up from ninth place to second, 316 pins behind Weber.

In third is 22-year-old Billy Hardwick, from San Mateo, Calif.

Fly Balls Playing Tricks With Players In New Dome

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's new Astrodome Stadium is a $31.6-million beauty; an air-conditioned, steel-domed glittering palace; a wonder of wonders.

It's also a place in which a baseball game could be called on account of daylight.

And that's no joke.

The luxurious Astrodome is perfect for night ball.

You probably can play there in the daytime, too, but only when it is raining. But when the sun is shining: Forget it. Not unless you're unconcerned about a player getting skulled by a fly ball.

It almost happened Wednesday during a seven-inning game between the Astros and their farmhands. The players couldn't find fly balls against the lights and shadows of the dome. It was only luck that nobody was hit by a soft fly ball.

The development came as a shock to all who had come to get their first view of this colossal stadium that rises above the ground like some giant misplaced saucer.

The grand opening is tonight when the Houston Astros and the New York Yankees meet under the dome for an exhibition game.

Houston General Manager Paul Richards may have been the most shocked of all. He made no attempt to conceal his disappointment.

"I've seen fly balls dropped before but this is ridiculous."

What Richards termed "ridiculous" was the spectacle of routine fly balls dropping all around the players, with none coming close to being caught. In one inning, all three outfielders took turns allowing fly balls to drop anywhere from 10 to 30 feet from where they were stationed, without making an attempt to catch them. They simply couldn't see the ball.

All outfielders, and all infielders with the exception of the first baseman, wore their batting helmets in the field.

"I was able to catch two of the 12 balls hit in my direction," said Ron Davis, a fine defensive center fielder. "One of the balls I caught was by accident. I never saw the ball."

The trouble stemmed from the skylight structure of the dome, composed of 4,596 plastic windows and steel-gray girders, each about 18 inches wide. The dome measures 710 feet in diameter. Once the ball rises up against the jigsaw background of light and dark, it becomes virtually impossible to follow.

In sharp contrast, the players had no difficulty following the ball at night.

"The background was perfect," said Davis.

Unfortunately, of the club's 81 home games this season, 21 are scheduled at daytime. This does not include two exhibition games, Saturday against Baltimore and Sunday against the Yankees. The first regular-season daylight game is scheduled April 25 against Pittsburgh.

What to do about it?

"Well," said Richards, "we contracted an expert on sun glasses and we hope to arrive at some solution. We're going to try amber glasses Saturday. The regular sun glasses are useless here. They're too dark.

"If this does not work, we've got two alternatives. The first would be to cover the dome, at least up to the second rung, with a huge tarpaulin extending from home plate halfway to first and third base.

"Or, we may have to paint the entire inside of the dome, the plastic windows as well as the girders, a dark green and switch on the lights."

Service Union And Vindicator Agree On Pact

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— The Building Service Employes Union reached tentative agreement early today on a new contract with the Youngstown Vindicator, struck 234 days ago by the American Newspaper Guild.

The service employes union was the last to come to terms, and that settlement, hammered out in 13 hours of negotiations, moved the 75-year-old Vindicator closer to resumption of full publication.

"We will resume normal operations about three days after the pacts are signed," a management spokesman said.

Supervisory employes of the newspaper continued publishing a limited edition throughout the walkout — first in the paper's history.

The 110-member Guild, which struck Aug. 18, came to terms Sunday on an initial contract for 42 outside circulation employes. Ratification is expected at a meeting set for 8 p.m. Monday.

The stereotypers Union reached a tentative agreement on a two-year pact Thursday morning. Its 18 members, along with those in other crafts, honored the Guild picket lines.

Russell Sets Pace, Boston Whips 76ers

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's Bill Russell has successfully made a surprise raid on Wilt Chamberlain's domain — scoring.

As a result, the Celtics beat Philadelphia 112-94 in the Eastern Division playoff finals Thursday night. They lead the best-of-7 National Basketball Association series 2-1 moving into game No. 4 on the 76ers' court tonight.

"Russell really beat us with those tap-ins and he did a great job on the offensive boards," said Chamberlain. "Heck, yes, he surprised me the way he scored early in the game. But I don't know what I could do about it."

Russell, blaming his sub-par performance for the second-game defeat, scored 12 of his 19 points as Boston jumped off to a 34-27 first-quarter lead Thursday night. He held the 7-foot-1 Chamberlain without a field goal until there were eight seconds left in the first half.

Chamberlain finished ahead 24-19 in the game and 37-26 in rebounds but the damage had been done. Russell had the better shooting average, a 9-7 edge in field goals, 8-1 bulge in assists, and was ahead 3-1 in steals.

The Western Division playoff finals resume tonight at Baltimore with the Los Angeles Lakers meeting the Bullets in the fourth game of their best-of-7 series. The Lakers hold a 2-1 lead.

Weber Leads In Akron Pin Tournament

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Match game play failed to slow down Dick Weber of St. Louis, as he won six of his eight games Thursday night in the $100,000 Firestone Professional Bowlers Association Tournament of Champions.

Weber lost one game and tied one to pile up 7,559 actual and bonus pins as he held the lead over defending champion Joe Joseph of Lansing, Mich., who made a big move toward a successful defense of the crown he won at Indianapolis in 1962.

Weber's eight-game total was 1730, lower than the sizzling 1889 he fired in the afternoon but good enough to take the measure of all his opponents except Dick Downey of Bloomfield, N. J., and Joseph. Downey defeated Weber 224-221 in the seventh game, while Joseph tied Weber 234-234 in the fourth game.

Joseph moved up from ninth place to second, 316 pins behind Weber.

In third is 22-year-old Billy Hardwick, from San Mateo, Calif.

Fly Balls Playing Tricks With Players In New Dome

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's new Astrodome Stadium is a $31.6-million beauty; an air-conditioned, steel-domed glittering palace; a wonder of wonders.

It's also a place in which a baseball game could be called on account of daylight.

And that's no joke.

The luxurious Astrodome is perfect for night ball.

You probably can play there in the daytime, too, but only when it is raining. But when the sun is shining: Forget it. Not unless you're unconcerned about a player getting skulled by a fly ball.

It almost happened Wednesday during a seven-inning game between the Astros and their farmhands. The players couldn't find fly balls against the lights and shadows of the dome. It was only luck that nobody was hit by a soft fly ball.

The development came as a shock to all who had come to get their first view of this colossal stadium that rises above the ground like some giant misplaced saucer.

The grand opening is tonight when the Houston Astros and the New York Yankees meet under the dome for an exhibition game.

Houston General Manager Paul Richards may have been the most shocked of all. He made no attempt to conceal his disappointment.

"I've seen fly balls dropped before but this is ridiculous."

What Richards termed "ridiculous" was the spectacle of routine fly balls dropping all around the players, with none coming close to being caught. In one inning, all three outfielders took turns allowing fly balls to drop anywhere from 10 to 30 feet from where they were stationed, without making an attempt to catch them. They simply couldn't see the ball.

All outfielders, and all infielders with the exception of the first baseman, wore their batting helmets in the field.

"I was able to catch two of the 12 balls hit in my direction," said Ron Davis, a fine defensive center fielder. "One of the balls I caught was by accident. I never saw the ball."

The trouble stemmed from the skylight structure of the dome, composed of 4,596 plastic windows and steel-gray girders, each about 18 inches wide. The dome measures 710 feet in diameter. Once the ball rises up against the jigsaw background of light and dark, it becomes virtually impossible to follow.

In sharp contrast, the players had no difficulty following the ball at night.

"The background was perfect," said Davis.

Unfortunately, of the club's 81 home games this season, 21 are scheduled at daytime. This does not include two exhibition games, Saturday against Baltimore and Sunday against the Yankees. The first regular-season daylight game is scheduled April 25 against Pittsburgh.

What to do about it?

"Well," said Richards, "we contracted an expert on sun glasses and we hope to arrive at some solution. We're going to try amber glasses Saturday. The regular sun glasses are useless here. They're too dark.

"If this does not work, we've got two alternatives. The first would be to cover the dome, at least up to the second rung, with a huge tarpaulin extending from home plate halfway to first and third base.

"Or, we may have to paint the entire inside of the dome, the plastic windows as well as the girders, a dark green and switch on the lights."

Service Union And Vindicator Agree On Pact

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)— The Building Service Employes Union reached tentative agreement early today on a new contract with the Youngstown Vindicator, struck 234 days ago by the American Newspaper Guild.

The service employes union was the last to come to terms, and that settlement, hammered out in 13 hours of negotiations, moved the 75-year-old Vindicator closer to resumption of full publication.

"We will resume normal operations about three days after the pacts are signed," a management spokesman said.

Supervisory employes of the newspaper continued publishing a limited edition throughout the walkout — first in the paper's history.

The 110-member Guild, which struck Aug. 18, came to terms Sunday on an initial contract for 42 outside circulation employes. Ratification is expected at a meeting set for 8 p.m. Monday.

The stereotypers Union reached a tentative agreement on a two-year pact Thursday morning. Its 18 members, along with those in other crafts, honored the Guild picket lines.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I repair a large tear in a canvas awning?

A.—Cut out a canvas patch slightly larger than the hole. On the back of this patch, spread a layer of white lead, and tack in place on all sides with large-headed copper tacks, close together. Apply white lead on the outside, let dry, then sandpaper lightly, and finish off with at least two coats of heavy deck paint.

Q.—What can I do when some of my hard-to-replace drinking glasses develop little nicks on their rims?

A.—Wrap a piece of "00" emery paper around the handle of a spoon, and rub this back and forth across the nicks until you've smoothed them to "lip-saving" comfort.

Q.—How can I repair deeply scratched woodwork?

A.—Try filling the scratches with a mixture of fine sawdust and spar varnish, and after this has hardened completely, smooth down with fine sandpaper.

against hedges on the property of Mrs. William Bradley, 631 Minerva St., police said. About eight feet of the hedge was uprooted, officers said.

There was damage to the front of the auto, but the truck was unscathed, police reported.

Two cars were damaged at 7:59 p.m. when they nosed into fresh excavations on St. Clair Ave. near North St., police said. One of the cars was southbound and the other was northbound.

A 1961 station wagon operated by Thomas V. Thornton, 17, of 750 Sophia St. plunged into the excavation 50 feet north of North St. as he drove north, police said.

Thornton told officers he saw the excavation and applied his brakes, but too late to stop. The front end of the car went into the ditch, which was about three feet deep, officers said. There was damage to the front end assembly and the right quarter panel of the car and the right front tire was flat, officers said.

The southbound car, which hit the excavation at the same time, was a 1960 sedan driven by Judith A. McGraw, 26, of 2509 Woodbine Ave., officers said. The woman said she was traveling about 15 miles an hour and did not see the excavation until her car struck it. There was damage to the front end assembly and the right front wheel. Two hubcaps also were knocked off, police said.

Police said today the excavation subsequently was filled level with the surface of the pavement.

A minor collision on E. 3rd St. at Walnut St. Thursday damaged a van driven by Robert N. Margo, 46, of Nashville, Tenn., and a 1961 two-door sedan operated by Bert A. Dawson, 1814 Lisbon St., dean of boys at the high school, police said.

The trucker said he was backing from a parking place on E. 3rd St. and did not see Dawson's car, striking the right door.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I repair a large tear in a canvas awning?

A.—Cut out a canvas patch slightly larger than the hole. On the back of this patch, spread a layer of white lead, and tack in place on all sides with large-headed copper tacks, close together. Apply white lead on the outside, let dry, then sandpaper lightly, and finish off with at least two coats of heavy deck paint.

Q.—What can I do when some of my hard-to-replace drinking glasses develop little nicks on their rims?

A.—Wrap a piece of "00" emery paper around the handle of a spoon, and rub this back and forth across the nicks until you've smoothed them to "lip-saving" comfort.

Q.—How can I repair deeply scratched woodwork?

A.—Try filling the scratches with a mixture of fine sawdust and spar varnish, and after this has hardened completely, smooth down with fine sandpaper.

A jury found him guilty March 11, and Richard Rose, adult probation officer, will make the investigation and report to the court.

Betts Lists Objection To Health Care Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The primary objection Rep. Jackson E. Betts, R-Ohio, has to the health-care bill, approved Thursday by the House, is the increased burden the plan places on the Social Security payroll tax.

Betts said operation of the plan would "jeopardize the cash benefits program under the Social Security System." He added that the plan would benefit the rich as well as the poor, and a government program for millionaires would be "illogical to say the least."

The British, who buy an average of 506 newspapers per 1,000 people, are considered the "most avid" readers of newspapers.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you will not consider this letter too morbid or indelicate for your column.

Is it true when a person dies his hearing is the last of his senses to go? And is it true that even though a person is in a deep coma, unable to move or talk, he can still hear everything that is being said?

Recently a relative passed away. It made me very uncomfortable to be at the bedside while the funeral arrangements were being made, along with the conversation relating to his finances and speculation about his will.

It must be horrible for a dying person to hear such matters discussed by well-meaning folks who mistakenly believe he is too far gone to know anything. Will you print this please? —RESPECT WANTED FOR ALL.

Dear All: It is not what a person hears but what he comprehends that counts.

A patient may respond to light and touch and sound but these responses are automatic and do not indicate that the brain is translating anything.

If the doctor says the patient is in a coma, it's safe to assume there is no comprehension. Since patients do slip in and out of a comatose state, however, it's best not to discuss funerals, wills and other matters at the bedside.

Orchids To Postmen

Dear Ann: I liked your response to the postman's wife whose husband was not appreciated by the people on his route when he performed the extra courtesies, such as paying the postage due out of his own pocket and collecting later—maybe.

We in Anchorage, Alaska, have expressed, both privately and publicly, our gratitude to our postal carriers and we'd like to share with you and your readers the story of their heroism and generosity.

In March 1964 we had some terrifying earthquakes. Virtually all lines of communication were destroyed but the mail went through. The first news our families received that we were alive reached them by mail. A special delivery letter arrived at our home two days after the earthquake. It was an invitation from relatives offering a place to live if we needed it.

Our road was gone and many houses on our block were destroyed but the postman brought the mail. His home was damaged, too. He had no heat or water, but he was on the job.

We have let our postmen know how much we appreciate them, but it would be very generous of you to print a word or two under "confidential" in your column. Will you?—ALASKAN SOURDOUGH.

-:-

Dear Al: I'd rather do more than that, so I'm printing your letter—every word of it.

Giftless Friend

Dear Ann: After exchanging Christmas gifts for several years, I'm very hurt because a friend accepted my gift, thanked me profusely and made no mention that she did not intend to reciprocate as usual. (Finances were not a factor here.)

I believe she should have told me several weeks before Christmas that she no longer wished to exchange gifts. I would not have bought her a gift and could have spent a similar amount on an orphan or someone who might not receive much at Christmas time.

Do you agree?—POST-HOLIDAY GRIPE.

Dear Post: I doubt that you would have felt more kindly toward the woman had she telephoned and said she wished to put an end to the gift giving.

It's always difficult to terminate a practice which has become traditional. However, it sounds as if this friendship was dangling by a thread —gift or no gift.

Party Pests

Dear Ann: Recently you had a letter in your column from "Joe," a nondrinker who got fed up with people who tried to force liquor on him at cocktail parties. His solution (pouring the drink into the nagger's pocket) was a gutty one, but he was justified since people must protect themselves against boors as best they can.

Now what can dieters do when the hostess keeps pushing food on them? One friend said to me last night, "Oh, I fixed the spaghetti and garlic bread just for you." (That's 3 pounds right there!)

Another friend always pleads, "Just taste it." Then she shoves the corn fritter under my nose. Of course that breaks down my resistance and I eat it.

Is there a solution — short of doing a Mack Sennett and heaving the pie in the hostess' face? —HELP.

Dear Help: Yes. Eat at home and tell your friends, "Doctor's orders."

People who accept dinner invitations are expected to eat what the hostess prepares.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'War On Youth Troubles'

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

County Adults Conduct Survey For Solutions

A group of adults in Columbiana County has thrown down the gauntlet against an army of problems that confront the county's 17,000 young people.

In these days of "wars on. . . .", this is part of a county "War on Youth Troubles."

A YEAR-LONG study by a committee of 24 county leaders from many walks of life has culminated in a score of general recommendations on what should be done about such tough youth problems as higher education, dropouts, unemployment, use of leisure time and personality development.

The survey committee, headed by County School Supt. James L. McBride, did not try to solve all problems of individual young people. But the study did pinpoint many areas where adult work is needed to help the 10-20 year-olds, especially at the community level.

Young people themselves were called in on the study, too, for who better would know the things that really trouble youth?

A major part of the survey was fact-finding: compiling such figures as age categories in the county of 107,004 people; numbers of students; educational opportunities in the county; youth organizations; employment, etc.

THE PROBLEMS of education, particularly those children who leave school before getting their diplomas and consequently are potential unemployed or welfare cases, played a major role in the survey.

The county school dropout rate is almost 25 students per 1,000, the report shows, among a school population of 23,908.

From 1961 to 1964, a total of 635 students left school before graduation. This number was topped by East Liverpool with 152 over the span, followed by Minerva with 100 (Minerva and West Branch were included in the report because part of the student bodies come from Columbiana County).

THREE-YEAR dropout figures from other schools are four county schools (Beaver, United, Southern, Crestview), 83; East Palestine, 67; Wellsville, 63; Lisbon, 60; Salem, 50; West Branch 35, Leetonia, 13, and Columbiana, 12.

Percentage - wise, East Liverpool, Lisbon and Minerva are in the higher end of the dropout scale with Salem, Leetonia, Columbiana and the county schools at the lower end.

Eleven reasons, some voluntary and some involuntary, drawn up for dropping out of school were lack of interest, lack of motivation, marriage, over-age, lack of ability to do work offered, low reading ability, poor social adjustment, pregnancy, need to help support family, court-initiated and military service.

To help reduce dropouts, the committee recommended the county should continue efforts to set up a vocational high school, schools should re-evaluate their present vocational training programs and curriculum so they meet the needs of every student, schools should provide early counseling with children and parents and close co-operation between school staffs and parents on dropout problems should be established.

MORE AND BETTER sex education was urged by the committee "because many parents are shying away from this responsibility."

"Churches are not reaching all young people, so schools must provide sex education and family living instructions," the committee said.

Unemployment of youth was recognized as a big problem with over 700 young men and women in the 16-21 age bracket seeking jobs as of March. To combat this problem, the establishment of a Community Action Program under the Economic Opportunity Act was suggested in addition to efforts to establish a Community College and a vocational high school.

Also recommended was a study of youth training programs under the Manpower Development and Training Act by the state employment service and youth leaders and efforts by service clubs and others to find summer work for young people.

LITTLE that was concrete came out of study of youth's leisure time, although it admittedly looms as a huge problem from which other difficulties can stem. It was agreed that "some type of leisure time program should be provided."

Eight provocative points emerged from a study of personality development of young people. The committee agreed that: youth lack an understanding of morality, do not have life goals or a well-founded philosophy of life, and are not being reached by organizations outside the school to develop leadership and citizenship qualities.

Other factors affecting personality development pointed up were: "peer pressures" have a great effect on the way young selves; a substantial number of youth do not attend church, impairing their spiritual developpeople dress and conduct themment, and adults have not set standards for youngsters to follow. Further, the committee claimed, non-action or non-comment on certain actions of youth in reality offer silent consent.

THE COMMITTEE concluded that churches and schools should increase co-operative efforts to involve voluntary religious education in the program; youth organizations such as Boy Scouts, 4-H Clubs, etc., should try to involve all youngsters in some type of program, and each community should establish a youth committee of lay and professional youth workers to evaluate the present situation.

Two Plead Innocent To Homicide Charges

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Gerald Davis, 36, and Mrs. Peggy Theiss, 36, have pleaded innocent in Butler County Common Pleas Court to unconnected homicide charges.

Davis of Middletown, is charged with first degree murder in the fatal stabbing of his estranged wife, Mrs. Oma Davis, 40, on March 29.

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—A 47-year-old Warren man who stopped his car for one train and then drove into the path of another, was killed Thursday at the Burton Street crossing of the Erie Lackawanna Railroad just outside Warren.

Authorities said the victim, Fred Rein, had stopped, along with other motorists, for an eastbound freight train and then drove onto the crossing in the path of a westbound passenger train.

Urges Port Authority

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's development as a general cargo port has been seriously hampered by short-sighted political leadership, says Council President James V. Stanton. Addressing a world trade association session Thursday, Stanton called on business leadership to get behind a proposal to create a port authority here.

Court Income Falls By $574

Municipal Court's overall income hit $3,973 in March, off $574 from the $4,547 shown in February, according to the monthly report issued today by Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon.

The court turned over $3,630 to the city treasury out of last month's revenue, a decline of $581 from the city's share of $4,211 in March.

The city's share was comprised of $366 in costs from civil actions; $3,136 in fines, costs and forfeitures in criminal actions and $128 from State Highway Patrol cases.

In addition to the amount paid the city, the court turned over $128 to the state treasury, $119 to the county treasury and $95 to the Law Library Association.

The total amount handled by the court last month was $8,632, up $1,640 from the $6,992 handled in the preceding month. The totals handled last month included $4,620 in the civil branch and $4,012 in the criminal branch.

Business Figure Dies

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — William Rufus King, 87, retired board chairman of the National Bank of Commerce and the Wm. R. Moore Dry Goods Co., died Thursday.

Locals To Name Delegations For Potters' Meeting

Some locals already have schedulec elections to begin choosing delegates to the 71st annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which will open July 12 in Vancouver, B. C.

The IBOP Thursday called attention to constitutional requirements in choosing delegates, including the fact that they must be nominated three months prior to the convention and elected in May. Nine locals throughout the U. S. already have given notice of votes in late April or early May.

Locals are entitled to one delegate for the first 50 members. They are entitled to another delegate for each additional 100 members "or major fraction thereof." The number of delegates is determined on the basis of the per capita tax paid for the quarter preceding the convention, the IBOP said.

Reservoir Completion Scheduled Next March

Director Fred E. Morr reported Thursday that construction will cost $506,843. He said the state also has purchased more than 1,000 acres of land to be developed for recreational purposes in the area.

County Adults Conduct Survey For Solutions

A group of adults in Columbiana County has thrown down the gauntlet against an army of problems that confront the county's 17,000 young people.

A YEAR-LONG study by a committee of 24 county leaders from many walks of life has culminated in a score of general recommendations on what should be done about such tough youth problems as higher education, dropouts, unemployment, use of leisure time and personality development.

The survey committee, headed by County School Supt. James L. McBride, did not try to solve all problems of individual young people. But the study did pinpoint many areas where adult work is needed to help the 10-20 year-olds, especially at the community level.

Young people themselves were called in on the study, too, for who better would know the things that really trouble youth?

A major part of the survey was fact-finding: compiling such figures as age categories in the county of 107,004 people; numbers of students; educational opportunities in the county; youth organizations; employment, etc.

THE PROBLEMS of education, particularly those children who leave school before getting their diplomas and consequently are potential unemployed or welfare cases, played a major role in the survey.

The county school dropout rate is almost 25 students per 1,000, the report shows, among a school population of 23,908.

From 1961 to 1964, a total of 635 students left school before graduation. This number was topped by East Liverpool with 152 over the span, followed by Minerva with 100 (Minerva and West Branch were included in the report because part of the student bodies come from Columbiana County).

—:—

THREE-YEAR dropout figures from other schools are four county schools (Beaver, United, Southern, Crestview), 83; East Palestine, 67; Wellsville, 63; Lisbon, 60; Salem, 50; West Branch 35, Leetonia, 13, and Columbiana, 12.

Percentage - wise, East Liverpool, Lisbon and Minerva are in the higher end of the dropout scale with Salem, Leetonia, Columbiana and the county schools at the lower end.

Eleven reasons, some voluntary and some involuntary, drawn up for dropping out of school were lack of interest, lack of motivation, marriage, over-age, lack of ability to do work offered, low reading ability, poor social adjustment, pregnancy, need to help support family, court-initiated and military service.

To help reduce dropouts, the committee recommended the county should continue efforts to set up a vocational high school, schools should re-evaluate their present vocational training programs and curriculum so they meet the needs of every student, schools should provide early counseling with children and parents and close co-operation between school staffs and parents on dropout problems should be established.

MORE AND BETTER sex education was urged by the committee "because many parents are shying away from this responsibility."

"Churches are not reaching all young people, so schools must provide sex education and family living instructions," the committee said.

Unemployment of youth was recognized as a big problem with over 700 young men and women in the 16-21 age bracket seeking jobs as of March. To combat this problem, the establishment of a Community Action Program under the Economic Opportunity Act was suggested in addition to efforts to establish a Community College and a vocational high school.

Also recommended was a study of youth training programs under the Manpower Development and Training Act by the state employment service and youth leaders and efforts by service clubs and others to find summer work for young people.

LITTLE that was concrete came out of study of youth's leisure time, although it admittedly looms as a huge problem from which other difficulties can stem. It was agreed that "some type of leisure time program should be provided."

Eight provocative points emerged from a study of personality development of young people. The committee agreed that: youth lack an understanding of morality, do not have life goals or a well-founded philosophy of life, and are not being reached by organizations outside the school to develop leadership and citizenship qualities.

Other factors affecting personality development pointed up were: "peer pressures" have a great effect on the way young selves; a substantial number of youth do not attend church, impairing their spiritual developpeople dress and conduct themment, and adults have not set standards for youngsters to follow. Further, the committee claimed, non-action or non-comment on certain actions of youth in reality offer silent consent.

THE COMMITTEE concluded that churches and schools should increase co-operative efforts to involve voluntary religious education in the program; youth organizations such as Boy Scouts, 4-H Clubs, etc., should try to involve all youngsters in some type of program, and each community should establish a youth committee of lay and professional youth workers to evaluate the present situation.

Locals To Name Delegations For Potters' Meeting

Some locals already have schedulec elections to begin choosing delegates to the 71st annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, which will open July 12 in Vancouver, B. C.

The IBOP Thursday called attention to constitutional requirements in choosing delegates, including the fact that they must be nominated three months prior to the convention and elected in May. Nine locals throughout the U. S. already have given notice of votes in late April or early May.

Locals are entitled to one delegate for the first 50 members. They are entitled to another delegate for each additional 100 members "or major fraction thereof." The number of delegates is determined on the basis of the per capita tax paid for the quarter preceding the convention, the IBOP said.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Good Allowance Plan Can Help Child

Most children, by the time they are in the second grade, can learn to operate on a simple regular budgeted allowance for a period of a week or several days. A child is getting ready for an allowance much earlier as he learns to keep a few pennies or a nickel received today until he has a dime or more before he spends any of it.

Dr. Garry Myers

He is not ready when he always spends immediately any amount of money he receives. As time goes on, when he receives an allowance to cover his needs for two or three days or a week, he must plan and wait in order to make this amount last for the designated period.

—:—

A GOOD allowance plan for a week budgets beforehand the total amount he will regularly need for the period. It may include money for lunch, bus fare or other regular daily needs. To this total amount should be added a few cents, not too much, that he can spend as he likes.

Some parents think only of this spend - as - you - please amount as the whole of his allowance. Then they dole out money for his regular needs, as he asks for it.

Having arrived at a definite budgeted allowance for a week, you need to have the total amount ready for your child on a regular day, say on Monday. This means that one of you parents will have the exact amount of money ready for the child then.

This parent should seriously consider this his or her responsibility. Often neither the child nor the parent plans for this amount. Then, as the child leaves for school, he thinks about his allowance and reminds his mother in haste. She may not have the exact amount on hand. She may have to give him a dollar bill or a five dollar bill. Consider what problems may arise then.

I KNOW a wonderful mother of five children of school age. Once a month she goes to her bank and gets the exact amount of change for each child's allowance for a month. She puts the amount for each child in a separate envelope labeling each envelope for each child for each of four successive weeks.

For any child, special needs may arise as for a play or concert. As this may come irregularly it should be provided for in addition to the allowance. A child may not have proved able to make his allowance last for the designated period.

If each occurs often, the success of the allowance plan disintegrates. Some special training or guidance may be needed for him. For the parent to tell the child he must make up this deficit from his future allowance can pose no end of problems.

Then there may be the case of the child who wishes to make an unusually large purchase and asks for special advancement in the allowance. The over - generous parent may advance the amount stating, "You must pay this back from your future allowance." The child may have good intentions but may fail to foresee the extent of the problem.

INSTEAD of having the child try later to pay for a "dead horse" it would be better that the parent inform the child that when he has saved from his spend-as-you-please portion of his allowance a certain definite amount, this parent will make up the difference with no strings attached.

As the child grows older he will have more needs for regular expenditures. His parents should review with the child his needs from time to time; also the amount of his spend-as-you-please portion of the allowance.

My bulletins, "Educating Your Child in Responsibility," and "Allowances," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Firemen On Wet Run In Auto Fire Mistake

A fire that wasn't a fire resulted only in a wet fire truck during Thursday night's rain.

Firemen said they were notified by police at 8:51 p. m. that an auto was on fire at W. 6th St. and Dresden Ave.

Before the truck reached the scene, police called back and said there was no fire. They explained a radiator hose broke, creating steam when water escaped.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Drinking Man's Diet? Nonsense!

Every spring a rash of "magic" diets breaks out. The latest craze, the drinking man's diet, is sheer Lorelei on the Rocks. In essence, the idea is that alcohol calories and fat calories do not count so long as you keep the carbohydrates to 60 grams a day.

Ida Jean Kain

So alluring is the idea that you can eat and drink all you want and lose weight by some mysterious metabolic process, that even the skeptical are tempted to lend an avid ear to the sweet music of promise.

—:—

NO FACTUAL solace can be offered with regard to this far-out diet. Dr. Philip L. White, nutritionist with the A.M.A., had this to say about it: "The drinking man's diet is utter nonsense, and has no scientific basis, and is chock - full of errors. Some individuals on these low-carbohydrate diets may at first undergo a change in water balance, which might account for a loss of a few pounds. Even the authors of the book ("The Drinking Man's Diet") make the interesting admission that if a man eats and drinks heavily he is going to gain weight and get drunk."

Ever since the dawn of fermentation there have been arguments pro and con on whether alcohol concoctions add weight. Alcohol and food behave differently. With food, what you burn is determined by your requirements. Not so with alcohol. The body burns it simply to get rid of it.

Since alcohol is readily burned, you might think it has no bearing on weight. Don't be misled. While alcohol is being burned for fuel, the food calories are not needed and they are stored as fat. When the grand total of calories, food plus alcohol, exceeds your energy needs, the surplus is stored, willy-nilly.

OF COURSE, if you drink and don't eat you won't gain. . .but you'll get other maladies too dreadful to dwell on. Alcohol furnishes fuel only, no repair or regulating nutrients.

As a dietitian, I ask myself what can the public do to steer clear of faddy diet pitfalls. Hang on to the idea of a balanced diet. Build daily meals around foods that furnish vital nutrients. Here they are: Meat, fish, fowl, milk, skim milk, cheese, cottage cheese, fruits, green and yellow vegetables, whole grains. If you take a drink, counteract those calories by skipping dessert.

There is no blinking the fact that all alcohol calories must be counted in the day's total. The count in alcoholic beverages depends on the per cent of alcohol, usually expressed as proof.

Here is the score: Whisky, gin, rum, 1 jigger (1½ ounces) 100 proof, 45 calories; 90 proof, 130 calories; 86 proof, 125 calories; 80 proof, 115 calories.

On a diet limited to 1000 calories there is no allowance for the "empty" calories furnished in alcohol.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Good Allowance Plan Can Help Child

Most children, by the time they are in the second grade, can learn to operate on a simple regular budgeted allowance for a period of a week or several days. A child is getting ready for an allowance much earlier as he learns to keep a few pennies or a nickel received today until he has a dime or more before he spends any of it.

Dr. Garry Myers

He is not ready when he always spends immediately any amount of money he receives. As time goes on, when he receives an allowance to cover his needs for two or three days or a week, he must plan and wait in order to make this amount last for the designated period.

—:—

A GOOD allowance plan for a week budgets beforehand the total amount he will regularly need for the period. It may include money for lunch, bus fare or other regular daily needs. To this total amount should be added a few cents, not too much, that he can spend as he likes.

Some parents think only of this spend - as - you - please amount as the whole of his allowance. Then they dole out money for his regular needs, as he asks for it.

Having arrived at a definite budgeted allowance for a week, you need to have the total amount ready for your child on a regular day, say on Monday. This means that one of your parents will have the exact amount of money ready for the child then.

This parent should seriously consider this his or her responsibility. Often neither the child nor the parent plans for this amount. Then, as the child leaves for school, he thinks about his allowance and reminds his mother in haste. She may not have the exact amount on hand. She may have to give him a dollar bill or a five dollar bill. Consider what problems may arise then.

I KNOW a wonderful mother of five children of school age. Once a month she goes to her bank and gets the exact amount of change for each child's allowance for a month. She puts the amount for each child in a separate envelope labeling each envelope for each child for each of four successive weeks.

For any child, special needs may arise as for a play or concert. As this may come irregularly it should be provided for in addition to the allowance. A child may not have proved able to make his allowance last for the designated period.

If each occurs often, the success of the allowance plan disintegrates. Some special training or guidance may be needed for him. For the parent to tell the child he must make up this deficit from his future allowance can pose no end of problems.

Then there may be the case of the child who wishes to make an unusually large purchase and asks for special advancement in the allowance. The over - generous parent may advance the amount stating, "You must pay this back from your future allowance." The child may have good intentions but may fail to foresee the extent of the problem.

INSTEAD of having the child try later to pay for a "dead horse" it would be better that the parent inform the child that when he has saved from his spend-as-you-please portion of his allowance a certain definite amount, this parent will make up the difference with no strings attached.

As the child grows older he will have more needs for regular expenditures. His parents should review with the child his needs from time to time; also the amount of his spend-as-you-please portion of the allowance.

My bulletins, "Educating Your Child in Responsibility," and "Allowances," may be secured by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Firemen On Wet Run In Auto Fire Mistake

A fire that wasn't a fire resulted only in a wet fire truck during Thursday night's rain.

Firemen said they were notified by police at 8:51 p. m. that an auto was on fire at W. 6th St. and Dresden Ave.

Before the truck reached the scene, police called back and said there was no fire. They explained a radiator hose broke, creating steam when water escaped.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Drinking Man's Diet? Nonsense!

Every spring a rash of "magic" diets breaks out. The latest craze, the drinking man's diet, is sheer Lorelei on the Rocks. In essence, the idea is that alcohol calories and fat calories do not count so long as you keep the carbohydrates to 60 grams a day.

Ida Jean Kain

So alluring is the idea that you can eat and drink all you want and lose weight by some mysterious metabolic process, that even the skeptical are tempted to lend an avid ear to the sweet music of promise.

—:—

NO FACTUAL solace can be offered with regard to this far-out diet. Dr. Philip L. White, nutritionist with the A.M.A., had this to say about it: "The drinking man's diet is utter nonsense, and has no scientific basis, and is chock - full of errors. Some individuals on these low-carbohydrate diets may at first undergo a change in water balance, which might account for a loss of a few pounds. Even the authors of the book ("The Drinking Man's Diet") make the interesting admission that if a man eats and drinks heavily he is going to gain weight and get drunk."

Ever since the dawn of fermentation there have been arguments pro and con on whether alcohol concoctions add weight. Alcohol and food behave differently. With food, what you burn is determined by your requirements. Not so with alcohol. The body burns it simply to get rid of it.

Since alcohol is readily burned, you might think it has no bearing on weight. Don't be misled. While alcohol is being burned for fuel, the food calories are not needed and they are stored as fat. When the grand total of calories, food plus alcohol, exceeds your energy needs, the surplus is stored, willy-nilly.

OF COURSE, if you drink and don't eat you won't gain. . .but you'll get other maladies too dreadful to dwell on. Alcohol furnishes fuel only, no repair or regulating nutrients.

As a dietitian, I ask myself what can the public do to steer clear of faddy diet pitfalls. Hang on to the idea of a balanced diet. Build daily meals around foods that furnish vital nutrients. Here they are: Meat, fish, fowl, milk, skim milk, cheese, cottage cheese, fruits, green and yellow vegetables, whole grains. If you take a drink, counteract those calories by skipping dessert.

There is no blinking the fact that all alcohol calories must be counted in the day's total. The count in alcoholic beverages depends on the per cent of alcohol, usually expressed as proof.

Here is the score: Whisky, gin, rum, 1 jigger (1½ ounces) 100 proof, 45 calories; 90 proof, 130 calories; 86 proof, 125 calories; 80 proof, 115 calories.

On a diet limited to 1000 calories there is no allowance for the "empty" calories furnished in alcohol.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Commentator Hurls A Charge

The public is not being given a fair shake when it comes to news analysis and commentary by radio and TV, says commentator Cecil Brown.

Hal Humphrey

"News on radio and TV today almost puts you to sleep. At least we used to be able to rouse indignation from listeners, but now the general public either misses what's significant, or it is beyond their comprehension as delivered by most newscasters," Brown amplifies.

The reason for the sad state of radio-TV news commentary today, according to Brown and most other observers of this scene, is the high financial stakes.

THE THREE major networks are making so much money and it feels so good that they don't want anyone making waves which might rock the gravy boat.

NBC's Huntley - Brinkley, for example, is 80 per cent sold to sponsors at a neat $21,000 per minute commercial. After 52 weeks the network at this rate grosses nearly $27 million. The CBS Cronkite weekday news half-hour expects to gross $25.5 million next year.

Will the networks ever decide to let their high-priced newsmen do more than relate the surface facts of the situation?

"Not until they decide they can't make money from news," says Brown. "I do not think 6 to 6:30 every evening has to be sponsored time."

-:-

His five-night, 10-minute commentary reaches nowhere near the size audience he has enjoyed on past commercial network spots, chiefly because there aren't as many TV receivers in Los Angeles equipped to pick up Channel 28's ultra-high-frequency signal.

But Brown feels useful again, and also that his 25 years of experience are not being wasted. The only network commentators who actually do comment on the news today are Eric Sevareid, who holds down a fairly regular but brief spot on the Cronkite news; Edward P. Morgan with his AFL - CIO-sponsored newscasts on ABC radio; Alex Drier and Paul Harvey, also on ABC radio, and Fulton Lewis Jr. on Mutual radio.

BROWN WAS HIRED from the International News Service in Rome by CBS in 1940, and he joined CBS' then imposing network of European radio correspondents — Eric Sevareid (Paris), Bill Shirer (Berlin) and Ed Murrow (London).

Later on he was brought to New York to take over the 8:55 CBS evening news, which was a national habit because of the late and great Elmer Davis. In 1943 Brown resigned from CBS after a squabble over his right to express opinion in his news commentary.

"I recognize the difficulties inherent in commenting on the news, but the public is ill served by the lack of it. Commentators came into being because of the confusion created by so much news. It calls for someone to evaluate it," Brown adds.

He cites the reaction of audiences around the country who attend the lecture-tour one-night stands which networks send their world correspondents on annually.

"USUALLY," Brown reports, "people will come up to us after one of these sessions and ask, 'Why don't you say those things on the air?' In other words they want something besides the dehydrated stuff we hear today."

Of course, Brown and his colleagues know how easy and dangerous it is to slip from the solid ground of opinion based on sound analysis of a situation to opinion springing from wishful thinking or plain prejudice.

Ed Murrow used to worry about this when he was at CBS and held many long conferences with other executives at the network over this complex problem.

There is a risk involved in freeing the airwaves for commentary, if it isn't responsible and safeguarded against demagoguery. It is a question, however, if the listener is not even more likely to be misinformed by being "put to sleep," as Brown suggests is the case today.

1 Man Injured In Plane Crash; Search Begins

BELLEFONTAINE, OHIO (AP)—A small plane carrying two Huron County men crashed just north of here early today in hilly farm country.

One of the men, although critically burned, walked several miles from the crash scene to U. S. 68 about five miles north of here. He told highway patrolmen there was another man in the plane, but he could not direct them to the plane.

The known survivor, Thomas McGill of Wakeman, was hospitalized here, and the patrol and Logan County sheriff's office began a search for the plane. Some pieces from the craft were found in a field just before dawn. The crash reportedly occurred about 1 a.m.

McGill told the patrol the other man was Kenneth Griffith of Birmingham. McGill and Griffith were pilots employed at Ortner airport in Wakeman. They left the airport Thursday night bound for Chicago and turned back because of bad weather.

Reward Offered In Shooting On Mon River Boat

PITTSBURGH — A $2,500 reward has been offered by the Mon River Towing Co. for information about the firing of two shots from a high-powered rifle at the upper deck of a tow boat of the firm.

The slugs hit the Explorer as it pushed six barges on the Monongahela River near Monesson Wednesday night, Pennsylvania State Police reported. No one was hurt.

The firm is being picketed by three unions striking two Pittsburgh towboat operators in a contract dispute. The unions contend one of the struck firms, Hillman Transportation Company, transferred its business to Mon River Towling.

Hillman and Dravo Corporation's Keystone Division were struck March 31 by the Masters, Mates & Pilots Union, the National Maritime Union and the Maritime Engineers Beneficial Association.

Mon River Towing crews belong to the United Mine Workers Union.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Commentator Hurls A Charge

The public is not being given a fair shake when it comes to news analysis and commentary by radio and TV, says commentator Cecil Brown.

Hal Humphrey

"News on radio and TV today almost puts you to sleep. At least we used to be able to rouse indignation from listeners, but now the general public either misses what's significant, or it is beyond their comprehension as delivered by most newscasters," Brown amplifies.

The reason for the sad state of radio-TV news commentary today, according to Brown and most other observers of this scene, is the high financial stakes.

THE THREE major networks are making so much money and it feels so good that they don't want anyone making waves which might rock the gravy boat.

NBC's Huntley - Brinkley, for example, is 80 per cent sold to sponsors at a neat $21,000 per minute commercial. After 52 weeks the network at this rate grosses nearly $27 million. The CBS Cronkite weekday news half-hour expects to gross $25.5 million next year.

Will the networks ever decide to let their high-priced newsmen do more than relate the surface facts of the situation?

"Not until they decide they can't make money from news," says Brown. "I do not think 6 to 6:30 every evening has to be sponsored time."

-:-

His five-night, 10-minute commentary reaches nowhere near the size audience he has enjoyed on past commercial network spots, chiefly because there aren't as many TV receivers in Los Angeles equipped to pick up Channel 28's ultra-high-frequency signal.

But Brown feels useful again, and also that his 25 years of experience are not being wasted. The only network commentators who actually do comment on the news today are Eric Sevareid, who holds down a fairly regular but brief spot on the Cronkite news; Edward P. Morgan with his AFL - CIO-sponsored newscasts on ABC radio; Alex Drier and Paul Harvey, also on ABC radio, and Fulton Lewis Jr. on Mutual radio.

BROWN WAS HIRED from the International News Service in Rome by CBS in 1940, and he joined CBS' then imposing network of European radio correspondents — Eric Sevareid (Paris), Bill Shirer (Berlin) and Ed Murrow (London).

Later on he was brought to New York to take over the 8:55 CBS evening news, which was a national habit because of the late and great Elmer Davis. In 1943 Brown resigned from CBS after a squabble over his right to express opinion in his news commentary.

"I recognize the difficulties inherent in commenting on the news, but the public is ill served by the lack of it. Commentators came into being because of the confusion created by so much news. It calls for someone to evaluate it," Brown adds.

He cites the reaction of audiences around the country who attend the lecture-tour one-night stands which networks send their world correspondents on annually.

"USUALLY," Brown reports, "people will come up to us after one of these sessions and ask, 'Why don't you say those things on the air?' In other words they want something besides the dehydrated stuff we hear today."

Of course, Brown and his colleagues know how easy and dangerous it is to slip from the solid ground of opinion based on sound analysis of a situation to opinion springing from wishful thinking or plain prejudice.

Ed Murrow used to worry about this when he was at CBS and held many long conferences with other executives at the network over this complex problem.

There is a risk involved in freeing the airwaves for commentary, if it isn't responsible and safeguarded against demagoguery. It is a question, however, if the listener is not even more likely to be misinformed by being "put to sleep," as Brown suggests is the case today.

One of the men, although critically burned, walked several miles from the crash scene to U. S. 68 about five miles north of here. He told highway patrolmen there was another man in the plane, but he could not direct them to the plane.

The known survivor, Thomas McGill of Wakeman, was hospitalized here, and the patrol and Logan County sheriff's office began a search for the plane. Some pieces from the craft were found in a field just before dawn. The crash reportedly occurred about 1 a.m.

McGill told the patrol the other man was Kenneth Griffith of Birmingham. McGill and Griffith were pilots employed at Ortner airport in Wakeman. They left the airport Thursday night bound for Chicago and turned back because of bad weather.

Castro Eyes Rabbits In Shortage Of Meat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Fidel Castro government is reported turning to rabbits to help offset a meat shortage.

The government was so heartened it started three new bunny ranches, the report added.

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 14-year - old youth who fatally wounded a friend with a gun he said he didn't know was loaded, has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Reward Offered In Shooting On Mon River Boat

PITTSBURGH — A $2,500 reward has been offered by the Mon River Towing Co. for information about the firing of two shots from a high-powered rifle at the upper deck of a tow boat of the firm.

The slugs hit the Explorer as it pushed six barges on the Monongahela River near Monesson Wednesday night, Pennsylvania State Police reported. No one was hurt.

The firm is being picketed by three unions striking two Pittsburgh towboat operators in a contract dispute. The unions contend one of the struck firms, Hillman Transportation Company, transferred its business to Mon River Towling.

Hillman and Dravo Corporation's Keystone Division were struck March 31 by the Masters, Mates & Pilots Union, the National Maritime Union and the Maritime Engineers Beneficial Association.

Mon River Towing crews belong to the United Mine Workers Union.

Patrol Will Continue Highway Death Probe

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—An investigation was to continue today by the Ohio Highway Patrol to determine whether to file charges against a 79-year-old Mansfield man whose car struck and killed a 9-year-old boy Thursday.

The boy, Jeffrey Wilson, was hit as he walked along the berm of the Mansfield - Lucas Road west of Ohio 39 after alighting from a school bus. The patrol said the motorist, John Sherman Weaver, was traveling northwest when he went off the right side of the road and hit the boy.

In 1682, the French explorer LaSalle reached the Gulf of Mexico after descending the length of the Mississippi River. He claimed the entire valley for Louis XIV of France.

In 1868, Congress passed a civil rights act over President Andrew Johnson's veto.

In 1940, Nazi armies invaded Norway and Denmark.

In 1941, German forces captured Salinika Greece.

Ten years ago — The Soviet Council of Ministers reported it had given the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet proposals to void treaties of alliance with Britain and France.

Five years ago — South Africa's prime minister, Hendrik Verwoerd, was shot and seriously wounded by a white farmer opposed to racial segregation.

One year ago — President Johnson won a 15-day postponement of a national railroad strike; new mediation was scheduled.

Junior Editors Quiz on NARWHALS

QUESTION: Why does a narwhal have such a long thin tusk?

ANSWER: The narwhal is a kind of whale which lives in Arctic seas. The long thin tusk projecting out in front of his head is really an enlargement of a tusk or tooth growing from his upper jaw on the left side. It has a spiral twist and is made of ivory, but being hollow most of the way, does not have as much value to the Eskimos as it would if it were solid. The meat of the narwhal, however, is very important to these northern people, as well as the blubber, from which they make oil.

Some authorities are not certain as to the exact reason for the narwhal's tusk. Others claim that this animal, which lives in seas frequently covered with an ice sheet, uses the tusk to break holes in the ice so it can breathe. Remember that the narwhal is a warm-blooded animal like other whales and can not get air from the water by breathing through gills in the manner of fishes.

The narwhal's horn figured in the creation of that beautiful mythical animal, the unicorn. Ancient artists seemed to delight in combining characteristics of animals in fanciful ways, and so we have the unicorn, — uniting a horse's body with a narwhal's tusk. Unicorns became widely used in medieval heraldry.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: If your drainboard is real ceramic tile, it can be cleaned with just plain bleach. It doesn't hurt the tile if you don't leave it on too long.

R. Z.

The manufacturers of genuine ceramic tile tell me that if you will let your tile dry completely, then take plain (not soap - filled) steel wool and rub, that all the film will come off.

They state also, that this cannot hurt real ceramic.

By using dry steel wool on a dry surface, you will remove the film in a fine powder, (so be sure to cover your hair gals, if you use this method on walls in the bath).

From there, we can use straight household bleach poured in a snip-top container, then pour this on the grout (that's the cracks between the tile).

Let this completely dry. I don't even rinse mine off in the bathroom. The odor leaves when it's dry.

IF THE GROUT is soiled looking, use a white fingernail pencil and mark over it. This will also act as a sealer because it contains wax. This helps prevent further mildew when moisture accumulates.

After the tile is thoroughly clean by the above methods . . . I use a wash rag dipped in kerosene (coal oil) and wrung out, to wipe the tile. The ceramic tile manufacturers also agree with me on this too, as it coats the tile and prevents further film accumulation.

I never use kerosene on floors. Just walls, drainboards, back splashes and windows.

I believe it's worth the effort and elbow grease you will use to try the above method because once it's cleaned to it'd original surface, it can be kept that way with a weekly wiping with the kerosene rag, I've used this method for three years.

This also works beautifully on glass shower doors!

BE SURE to use this only on real ceramic tile and not on synthetic or plastic types.

The tile manufacturers say that if a fine grade of steel wool is used, it cannot possibly harm your tile, no matter how hard you scrub, etc.

Also, gals, do not try to do a whole shower in one day. If you get a half well done . . . then stop until the mood hits again. It will!

And remember, there's always tomorrow and it will wait. Always has.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Woman's work is never done . . . but through your column we have lots of fun!

M. J.

DEAR HELOISE: I found out that the secret of cooking firm white cauliflower is so simple . . . and very little water. Leave the cauliflower in a whole bouquet, set in about 1½ inches of water, cover, bring to boil, then cook over low flame until tender.

This is one vegetable that requires very little, or no salt, to bring out it's flavor.

When you make your sauce or crumb mixture, you can add salt to that if you like. The type of pan matters little — after 30 years of cooking, I have used every new utensil on the market, and my cauliflower is always white.

M. R.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever take a dress out of the closet to wear . . . and found that the collar had turned up when it should have turned down?

Get out your spray bottle (use part water and part starch to suit). Spray the collar and smooth it. In five minutes it will be ready to wear.

MOTHER OF SIX.

Mrs. Fred Schoeni of Beloit R. D. 2, again chairman of the Women's Division, was to meet with wives of other board members Thursday night to prepare copy for women's events.

Material will go to the Lyle-Printing and Publishing Co. at Salem this weekend.

Edward Thompson of R. D. 5, president, appointed Ben Weingart of Leetonia R. D. 2 as chairman of special attractions.

The board approved use of the grounds for two activities this spring — the Lisbon Lions Club's annual Easter egg hunt for community children April 17 and the county school system's Field Day for eighth and ninth graders May 12.

A total of $2,200 was allocated to the Junior Fair. A breakdown shows $1,000 from the state, $590 from the county commissioners, $500 from the Fair Board to the 4-H Department and $200 from the Fair Board to the Junior Fair Board.

The 1965 allocation for the Junior Fair compares with $2,889 expended last year but the actual cut is only $84, according to Mrs. Velma Cope of Lisbon, secretary.

She said the $2,200 allocation does not include $120 for two tents for horses which will be provided again this year and $100 from the 4-H Band if it marches on the opening day. Neither does it include one-half the proceeds of the 4-H-sponsored grandstand show which last year amounted to $220. The 4-H Department decided against presenting a show this year, Fair Board officers said.

Nor does the allocation include $165 paid last year for straw for bedding. This year, the Fair Board will furnish only the first bedding — a long-standing policy in the Senior Fair Division, Mrs. Cope said.

For the first time, the show will include a sculptured division, comprised of three-dimensional artistic efforts in any media. They will be limited only by a maximum size of six feet and a maximum weight of 100 pounds.

This year, the judge will be competent in judging both the two and three - dimensional art forms. Last year's show was judged by Nat Youngblood of Pittsburgh, head of the Pittsburgh Press art department.

Entry blanks may be obtained from Anthony J. Martell, 620 Midland Ave., Midland.

All blanks must be postmarked no later than June 17, and all entries must be delivered to 832 Midland Ave. from June 23 through 25 between 7 and 9 p.m.

Martell said pictures once entered may not be removed before the exhibit closes.

He said the early announcement of the event was made to give area artists or sculptors sufficient time to prepare entries.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: If your drainboard is real ceramic tile, it can be cleaned with just plain bleach. It doesn't hurt the tile if you don't leave it on too long.

R. Z.

The manufacturers of genuine ceramic tile tell me that if you will let your tile dry completely, then take plain (not soap - filled) steel wool and rub, that all the film will come off.

They state also, that this cannot hurt real ceramic.

By using dry steel wool on a dry surface, you will remove the film in a fine powder, (so be sure to cover your hair gals, if you use this method on walls in the bath).

From there, we can use straight household bleach poured in a snip-top container, then pour this on the grout (that's the cracks between the tile).

Let this completely dry. I don't even rinse mine off in the bathroom. The odor leaves when it's dry.

IF THE GROUT is soiled looking, use a white fingernail pencil and mark over it. This will also act as a sealer because it contains wax. This helps prevent further mildew when moisture accumulates.

After the tile is thoroughly clean by the above methods . . . I use a wash rag dipped in kerosene (coal oil) and wrung out, to wipe the tile. The ceramic tile manufacturers also agree with me on this too, as it coats the tile and prevents further film accumulation.

I never use kerosene on floors. Just walls, drainboards, back splashes and windows.

I believe it's worth the effort and elbow grease you will use to try the above method because once it's cleaned to it'd original surface, it can be kept that way with a weekly wiping with the kerosene rag, I've used this method for three years.

This also works beautifully on glass shower doors!

BE SURE to use this only on real ceramic tile and not on synthetic or plastic types.

The tile manufacturers say that if a fine grade of steel wool is used, it cannot possibly harm your tile, no matter how hard you scrub, etc.

Also, gals, do not try to do a whole shower in one day. If you get a half well done . . . then stop until the mood hits again. It will!

And remember, there's always tomorrow and it will wait. Always has.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: Woman's work is never done . . . but through your column we have lots of fun!

M. J.

DEAR HELOISE: I found out that the secret of cooking firm white cauliflower is so simple . . . and very little water. Leave the cauliflower in a whole bouquet, set in about 1½ inches of water, cover, bring to boil, then cook over low flame until tender.

This is one vegetable that requires very little, or no salt, to bring out it's flavor.

When you make your sauce or crumb mixture, you can add salt to that if you like. The type of pan matters little — after 30 years of cooking, I have used every new utensil on the market, and my cauliflower is always white.

M. R.

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever take a dress out of the closet to wear . . . and found that the collar had turned up when it should have turned down?

Get out your spray bottle (use part water and part starch to suit). Spray the collar and smooth it. In five minutes it will be ready to wear.

MOTHER OF SIX.
